Pastor to Discuss Changes in Life, Work of Church

The nature of changes taking place in the life and work of the church will be discussed from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday by the Rev. Rafael Sanchez, associate pastor of the University Presbyterian Church, Madison, at Memorial Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Mr. Sanchez, in addition to his work with university students, is serving the Wisconsin Synod as one of 20 associates in educational development. This group of leaders has been trained by the National Board of Christian Education to help churches rethink the nature of the work in education in the church.

The Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., is preparing a new curriculum and a program for teacher-training. The Madison minister will meet with the local church school teachers and visit the young people graduating from Appleton High School West, who are being honored at a breakfast at 8:15 a.m.

He will also be the guest speaker at the 9:30 a.m. Sunday service, which begins the summer schedule.

Missionaries to Speak On African Work at Two Sunday Services

Two missionaries from West Africa will be guest speakers at the 10:45 a.m. service and 7 p.m. evangelistic rally Sunday at the First Assembly of God Church.

Miss Adeline Wichman, Appleton and Miss Pauline Smith, who have been working in Bawku, U. R., Ghana, for the past 25 years, will return to the field in October.

At the evening service they will show a film of their work in Africa.

Vietnam Film Deals With Religious Work

"Vietnam Profile," a film dealing with religious work in the war-torn country, will be shown at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Seymour Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Missionary work among the natives, and in hospitals and educational institutions, and the responsibilities of the army chaplains among the U. S. troops, are subjects of the film.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Victor Hugo, French literary giant in the Nineteenth Century, was not only a man of many thousands of words in his poems, plays, novels and essays, but he was a dedicated man of action based on faith. Strongly influenced by his mother, a devout Catholic, both in his writings and in political action, he dedicated his life to man's liberty. Because of that dedication, he was exiled for 19 years.

In France his name stood as a symbol of the Republic and he said, "When liberty returns, I shall return!"

Later he became intensely absorbed with the soul of man. He jotted down many notes, including the following which is helpful even today.

"You say the soul is nothing but the resultant of the bodily powers. Why, then, is my soul more luminous when my bodily powers begin to fail? Winter is on my head, but eternal spring is in my heart."

Too Work Oriented

Christians Need More Regard for Play Time

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Christians need to have more regard for play, and less for work.

That's the conclusion of a three-year study carried out by a special commission of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

"We should emphasize play because there is so much in our intellectual atmosphere that is destructive of the play spirit," the report says.

It adds that the "Gospel element" which needs to be pointed up may be summarized by this prescription: "Relax; don't always be building bridges."

New Conditions

The study was made in an effort to assess new conditions arising through mounting production requiring less human labor, resulting in increasing leisure. It was aimed to bring Biblical perspectives to bear on the situation.

Up to now, the Protestant ethic has "glorified economic labor" and sometimes has appeared "to be more of a commercial ideology than a Christian doctrine of man," the report says.

"Part of our mental furniture is that 'every man should work for what he gets.' The man who lives off the labors of another is judged guilty of the sin of sloth; he is more than unclean; he is somehow less than a man."

Guilt Feelings

Such assumptions "are a part of our thought-life," the report adds. "One tends to suffer guilt feelings when he is idle."

However, the findings stress that "neither toil nor compensated labor is glorified by Scripture as the ultimate spiritual necessity. God's gift of partnership is not a sentence to eternal drudgery; neither is the pay check the chief end of man."

In fact, the Scriptures themselves "are playful" in spirit, and see experiences as "worthwhile in themselves," without their being productive of goods or income, the report says.

Ideal Man

"The ideal man of the Bible was the leisured man. For him leisure was not simply 'time off.' He was a man of freedom—free to choose his activity. His choice was most often to pursue truth and knowledge, especially of God," the report adds.

In the middle 20th century, it is pointed out, fewer people are needed to supply agricultural and other needs, and predictions are that eventually 10 per cent of the populace can perform all the work needed for the physical welfare of all people.

"The Christian church is called upon to speak about 'play' as a crucial element in the leisure of liberation" and "to broaden its understanding of leisure beyond that which justifies leisure only as the producer of a desired end—a product."

Endow Work

Ways are needed by which "the qualities of play can endow work as well as permit work to endow play." But to achieve that "the scales must be weighted in favor of play because we have so glorified productive work as not to be able to understand a free and fully mature humanity."

The need was seen for more recognition of the value of doing things simply "for the sake of beauty, joy and the fullness of living. The mystics, the romanticists, and the poets have seen this playful spirit in Christianity in a way that the utilitarian West often has not."

The report, which the United Presbyterian governing assembly last week ordered circulated throughout the 3.3-million-member denomination, was prepared by a group including businessmen, sociologists, government experts, psychologists, pastors, theologians and others.

Create Uneasiness

"A fresh review of Biblical doctrine of work ought at least to create an uneasiness about the things we have made normative," it says, adding that both "church and society have heavily emphasized an immature and partial man" obsessed with work.

"Such a confession calls us to seek a new balance between work and play which can encourage the wholeness of man and create a society in which full humanity contributes to a healthier civilization. Time off will not insure this result; leisure may make it possible.

"We can take seriously those who suggest that Adam fell when his play became serious—when he became work-oriented."

Rule Will Equalize, Not Handicap Car

USAC Won't Ban Turbine

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The president of the U.S. Auto Club said Friday he "would guess there would be a turbine back" at the next Indianapolis 500.

But, Thomas W. Binford added, "I don't know what size its engine would be."

The USAC rules committee will discuss the controversial cars with the aircraft engine June 6 and submit recommendations to the board. Binford is board chairman.

"We're not interested in simply outlawing an engine because it's new," said Binford, who was in Milwaukee for a speaking engagement. "If we were interested in that, we would have outlawed the Ford."

He said whatever rule the santioning body adopts "will be to equalize and not to handicap the turbine car. What is needed is a formula and someone who is very wise is going to have to tell me what that formula is."

Binford was commenting on the car driven by Parnelli Jones in the 500 earlier this week.

The car dominated the race for 490 miles before gear box trouble forced it to a halt and gave the victory to A. J. Foyt.

Craig Breedlove, another guest at the dinner, said if the turbine is sanctioned, major builders of racing cars, such as the Ford Motor Co. will begin producing turbine-powered racers.

Veteran driver Jim Hurtubise of North Tonawanda, N.Y., another dinner guest, said "not really" when asked if he would like to drive a car like that of Jones.

"But if they're going to run them, you're going to have to have one. That's the way I feel about it," he added.

Binford, Breedlove and Hurtubise were among a score of notables at a dinner in honor of veteran auto racing promoter Tom Marchese.

The dinner began a weekend of events preceding Sunday's 150-mile Rex Mays Classic.

Awards were presented to Marchese, president of Wisconsin Auto Racing Inc., Hurtubise, Norm Nelson, veteran Racine driver, Breedlove, Miles Melius, Robert Wilke and James Jeffords.

Mario Andretti, who was also honored, was unable to attend.

Oshkosh Wins 'Mythical Meet'

Best Track Times Give Titans Nod Over Whitewater

ASHLAND (AP)—The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics said Oshkosh State probably would be its District 14 track king were the district able to hold a meet.

But a meet is out of the question for several reasons, and Oshkosh will have to settle for the NAIA's results based on a mythical meet geared to the universities' best times this season.

On the basis of the season output, the NAIA said, the Titans would edge Whitewater State 92-74 for the Wisconsin small-college title.

Lakeland and La Crosse State would tie for third, Platteville State would finish fifth, Stout State sixth, Superior and Stevens Point tied for seventh, Milton ninth, Northland and River Falls tied for 10th, and St. Norbert 12th.

Oshkosh and Whitewater would have six first-place winners each, Lakeland would win two events, Platteville would win two, and Stout and La Crosse would win one each.

ABC Gets Television Rights to P-A Games

NEW YORK (AP) — Exclusive television rights to the Pan-American Games to be held at Winnipeg, Canada, July 23-Aug. 6 have been secured by the American Broadcasting Company, ABC said Wednesday.

Roone Arledge, ABC vice president and executive producer said the Games would be shown on the Wide World of Sports programs on Saturday afternoons.

Richards Hurls 2-Hitter

Wausau Edges Comets, 1-0, for State Berth

STEVENS POINT — Wausau High School nipped Waupaca, 1-0, for a berth in the State Baseball Tournament Friday afternoon. The Lumberjacks' Vic Richards, who had pitched two consecutive no-hitters, stopped the Comets on two hits.

Wausau got its only tally in the second inning when Duwayne Neubauer singled and went all the way to third when the ball got away from the left fielder. Neubauer scored later in the frame, beating a return throw from the first baseman on a ground ball.

The Comets threatened once in the fourth inning, when Dan Peterson singled in the infield and went to second on a high throw. However, Richards got the next three men on a strike out, ground out, and popup.

Both pitchers went all the way. Richards had seven strike outs and didn't walk a man. Waupaca's Ken Tappa also turned in a fine performance, striking out eight and walking one while allowing three hits.

The winners are now 12-6-1 for the season, while Waupaca ended its campaign at 9-4.

White Sox Obtain Veteran McMahon

Red Sox Bolster Infield With Acquisition of Jerry Adair

CLEVELAND (AP) — The pennant-minded Chicago White Sox obtained veteran relief pitcher Don McMahon while the Boston Red Sox bolstered their infield with the acquisition of sure-handed Jerry Adair in a trade announced early today.

Robbie Snow, a pitcher with Boston's Pittsfield Farm Club in the Eastern League, also went to Chicago in the deal.

The trade was announced by the Red Sox, who are in Cleveland for a series with the Indians.

McMahon, a 37-year-old right-hander, was a standout reliever with Milwaukee in the National League from 1957-1962 and helped the Braves to two pennants. He came to the Red Sox from Cleveland during the 1966 season in the deal that sent relief pitcher Dick Radatz to the Indians.

This season he has pitched 17 2-3 innings for a 1-2 record and a 3.50 earned run average.

Set AL Record

Adair, primarily a second baseman during his 10-year major league career, set American League records at that position in 1964-65 with Baltimore when he went 89 consecutive games and accepted 458 straight chances without an error. The White Sox got him from the Orioles last year for reliever Eddie Fisher.

Boston. Manager Dick Williams, who has been getting strong offensive and defensive performances from both second baseman Mike Andrews and shortstop Rico Petrocelli, indicated he might use Adair at third base.

"I do not necessarily consider him a utility infielder," Williams said. "I am not satisfied with the play we have been getting at third base and I may use Adair there."

Clay Touches Off Flurry of Calls on Bout

Officials Say Alvin Lewis Will Be in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Alvin (Blue) Lewis' boxing schedule between Cassius Clay and Aaron Eastling took more pounding Friday night than Lewis could ever expect in the ring.

Clay touched off a flurry of long-distance telephone calls by announcing that he had signed for a 15-round exhibition match against Lewis in Detroit June 15.

Michigan boxing commissioner Chuck Davey, contacted in Birmingham, Mich., called Clay's announcement ridiculous, and said he "would not approve a 15-round exhibition. I don't know where Clay or the Detroit promoter got that idea."

Monday Bout

The Clay exhibition report was accompanied by reports that Lewis backers would like to bypass his scheduled eight-round match Monday night in Milwaukee against Aaron Eastling because of the Clay schedule.

Frank Falduto of the Wisconsin Boxing Commission said he would tolerate no cancellations. Davey said later that "everything has been straightened out. Lewis will be in Milwaukee."

Davey had said he too would have little patience with a fight cancellation.

Amid all the telephone calls, it was learned that Lewis had already traded blows with Clay. Lewis, a Detroit gymnasium reported, boxed an easy three rounds with the heavyweight titlist Friday.

One more call to Davey, to ask what this might mean, especially when it had been reported Lewis was feeling ill and might have to miss the Eastling match.

"Well, Lewis can't be very sick," Davey remarked.

The Dodgers jumped off to a 3-0 lead but Roberto Clemente, wh drove in two runs with a pair of hits, and Wills brought the Pirates back.

base on an error by shortstop Bob Schaefer. May unleashed his second "wrong field" homer in two nights. The left-handed hitter flogged the ball to the top of the left center field wall, and it bounced over.

The Foxes made it 4-1 in the fourth on a single by Monty, a walk to Rowe, a wild pitch and an infield out.

May walked to open the Appleton fifth. Radmaker lashed a double to left. After one out, Monty hit to third baseman Fred Dyer, who threw May out at the plate. Chuck Brinkman hit a run-scoring single to left.

After a double steal, Rowe walked to fill the bases. Reliefer Ed Davis was greeted by Ortiz' RBI single to right.

In the eighth, Ortiz continued his base-stealing rampage after he had been hit by a pitched ball. His theft of second unnerved reliefer C. A. McGowen, who tried to pick him off second base. The throw went into center field, and Ortiz scored.

Titans Place Birkholz, Held On All-Star '9'

Superior's Sevals Won Batting Title With .464 Average

MADISON (AP)—Jim Sevals, Superior second baseman who hit at a .464 clip during the Wisconsin State University Conference season, was named to the WSUC all-star baseball team Friday.

Despite his batting average, Sevals just edged three other contenders in the balloting by conference coaches.

The Superior senior is one of two players on the 10-man team to have also won a berth on another All-WSUC squad. Sevals won a spot in basketball.

Bob Berezowitz of Whitewater, an all-conference football quarterback, is the other two-sport all-star. Berezowitz, who hit .345, was the all-WSUC catcher.

Superior was the only school to place three players on the team. Besides Sevals, pitcher Chuck Nelson and outfielder Joe Miller made the team.

Conference champion Stevens Point placed two players—pitcher Chuck Ritzenthaler and outfielder Jim Fitzgerald. Oshkosh kosh State also placed two players—third baseman Rick Birkholz and shortstop Larry Held.

Others named to the team were first baseman Ron McIntyre of River Falls and outfielder Ken Haugom of Platteville.

PGA Acuses Pro Golfers of Trying to Make Power Grab

PALM BEACH GARDENS. Fla. (AP) — The president of the Professional Golfers' Association blasted Friday a statement by touring pros criticizing the PGA's executive committee and called the signers "agitators . . . still scheming to seize control of the PGA tour."

"The same group of agitators among the players are still out there," President Max Elbin, said in a statement "and still scheming to seize control of the PGA tour. Their objective has not changed. What we accepted six months ago in good faith as an understanding was, to them, only a truce.

Now we have the same old devil's brew simmering again, spiced with new allegations."

Dan Sikes, spokesman for the players and chairman of the PGA Tournament Committee, held a news conference Thursday at the Memphis Open and issued a petition asking for more authority.

Elbin said he learned that a petition, in the form of an ultimatum, had been circulated among the players, but he said no copy of the petitions had been received by his office and he would take no action without proof of its existence.

"Playing in the PGA championship is a privilege," he said. "If some disgruntled players prefer not to avail themselves of this privilege, that's their choice. But we will hold a PGA championship and a new PGA champion will be crowned."

Meanwhile, Executive Director Robert T. Creasey said Elbin had called a special meeting of the Executive Committee for June 20 at the site of the Cleveland Open championship, to be followed by a joint meeting of the Executive Committee and all of the players that evening.

"The players' new list of grievances will be studied and the Association will take whatever action is deemed appropriate in the nature of the crisis," Elbin said.

The main grievance, Sikes said, is the PGA Executive Committee's power to veto actions of the seven-member Tournament Committee.

Madison Teams Bid for State Golf Crown

West Has 9-Stroke Lead Over East; Appleton Sixth

MADISON (AP) —Perennial Powerhouse Madison West jumped into a nine-stroke lead over crosstown rival Madison East Friday in a bid for a second straight state high school golf championship.

In individual competition, Jeff Radder of West, twice state junior winner, blew the 16th and 18th holes with double bogeys to drop a stroke behind Craig Palmer of Spooner at 73 going into today's final action.

Radder's scores on the first round were 33-41 for a 74. He won the state high school crown in 1965, then lost last year by a single stroke to Andy North of Monona Grove.

Palmer, who putts like his famous namesake, Arnold, used only 28 strokes on the greens in the initial 18 holes.

North was tied for third at 76 with Mike Pirtzkow of Mequon Homestead, Marshall Gavre of Waukesha, and Mike Feifare of Madison West.

Spooner trailed the Madison entries at 320 Friday, Janesville and Manitowoc shot 324, and Appleton had 326.

Randy Warobick's 79 paced the Appleton High School contingent of golfers at the tournament in Madison Friday. Craig Boysen was runner-up with an 80, followed in order by John Gall, 81; and Bill Witt and Ollie Champeau, 86.

Youth Guilty Of Murders

18-Year-Old Faces Sentencing on 24 Counts of Murder

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — A teen-ager has been convicted of both murder and arson in the deaths of nine children and three adults in a fire that destroyed the Yonkers Jewish Community Center.

Thomas Ruppert, 18, showed no emotion as a jury of 10 men and two women convicted him Friday on 24 counts of first-degree murder and one of arson. The panel deliberated 24 hours.

Westchester County Court Judge Robert Dempsey, who presided at the three-week trial, set sentencing for next Friday.

Defense attorney Eleanor Jackson Piel said she would file an appeal.

Had Been Janitor

Ruppert, who had been a part-time janitor at the center, was arrested almost a month after the Dec. 20, 1965 fire.

Ruppert disappeared after the blaze and was found in Grasslands Hospital, in nearby Valhalla, undergoing court-ordered psychiatric treatment involving a charge brought against him before he was 16.

Ruppert was accused during the trial of spreading the contents of a five-gallon can of gasoline in the center and igniting it. Police refused to make the motive public.

Vatican Mass Memorializes Pope John

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI said Mass today in memory of the fourth anniversary of the death of Pope John XXIII, who is already a preliminary candidate for sainthood.

Pope Paul had ordered studies to begin in November 1965 to prepare Pope John's cause for beatification, the level just below sainthood. Only one month ago it was disclosed that the Vatican had received the first reports of miracles attributed to Pope John.

Beatification requires acceptance by the church of two miracles attributed to the candidate. Canonization requires two more.

The entire process, together with an investigation of Pope John's life, could take years. The last Pope to be acclaimed a saint was Pius X, who died in 1914.

Self-Pollution Made by Those Fleeing Cities

American Affluence Contributes to Recreation Confusion

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — This weekend thousands of people will get a taste of it. Seeking relief from the pollution and confusion of the city, they will discover something similar in the country: crowds in the open spaces, mobs at vacation sites. Almost a pollution of people.

In national parks such as Yosemite summer tourists seeking campsites under the open sky will create traffic problems, noise, confusion. And the odor of oil stoves and car fumes may suffocate the dawn.

Returning home from a weekend at the beach, recreationists and their families will be caught this summer in miles-long traffic jams that will nullify the benefits of two days in the sun.

Stop Early

Tourists on some major highways will pull into motels at 1:30 in the afternoon to assure themselves of a room for the night even though their schedule calls for hours more of travel.

That's the picture at its worst, but for many people it never is much better. The waters are muddied by the confluence of two great manmade streams: growing population, and the affluence that permits expensive habits. Recreation is big business, and man is paying dearly for it.

Even camping, whose inspiration is the desire to return to the simplicity of the wilderness, has been modernized with the help of costly vehicles. The desire to rough it in comfort produces campsites with running water, electricity, showers, refrigerators. The camper might want only for a little roughness.

8 Million Boats

Consider some statistics: America's pleasure boat owners now number eight million by some estimates. And America's skiers last year reportedly spent $750 million on clothing, transportation, equipment, food and lodging.

Some of this desire for the outdoors — and the spending that results from it — is manufactured in a sense. Without the vehicles and equipment to take advantage of the outdoors millions of Americans would never give it another thought. But as a way of life that can be purchased it has an enormous attraction to the newly affluent.

For example, the Ford Almanac, a promotional publication of the Ford Motor Co., estimates that Americans this year will spend $40 billion "to frolic in fresh air." This equals $200 a person, a big market.

The publication cites a survey showing that the United States now has 60 million fishermen, 45 million campers, 40 million boaters and 20 million hunters.

To tap this market, Ford and other automobile companies are publicizing the camper bodies that make their pickup trucks more versatile. Station wagons are seldom pictured as often at the railroad station as they are on the beach. The outdoors is a market.

Perhaps as a reaction some of the millions who now depopulate the city on weekends might realize that one of the quietest, more serene and idle spots on a summer Sunday afternoon is the city they left.

Attempt to Elude Police Costs Cyclist $100, His License, Jail Sentence

Attempting to elude a police patrolman early last Sunday morning cost an Appleton motorcyclist $100 and costs, his driver's license for three months and a brief jail sentence.

Gerald D. Schulz, 27, route 4, Friday pleaded guilty of speeding 48 miles per hour in a 25 m.p.h. zone and attempting to elude an officer. The offenses occurred on the southside about 4 a.m. Sunday, according to Appleton police.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller sent Schulz to jail until noon Monday.

Boat Driver Fined In Fatal Accident

WAUKESHA (AP) — A Delafield man has been fined $50 on a charge of imprudent operation of a motor boat stemming from an accident in which a boat passenger drowned after the craft struck a pier.

Kenneth Frickert, 27, who authorities said was operating the 14-foot fiberglass boat, was fined Thursday after having pleaded innocent in a trial before Judge Clair Voss of Circuit Court.

Joseph E. Kremarik, 28, also of Delafield drowned June 25 after the boat, powered by a 60-horsepower engine, struck a steel pier during a ride on Lake Nagawicka.

UHF Investors Get Most of Money Back

$2,500 Still Due Area Backers of Television Venture

A state probe of a questionable UHF television station venture promoted here in 1963 by two Minneapolis-St. Paul men has resulted in a group of Fox Cities businessmen getting back all but $2,500 of their investment.

Originally, the men invested several thousand dollars in the station promotion which became grounded when it was disclosed by the Sunday Post-Crescent that the promoters were under investigation by the Minnesota state attorney general's office.

James (Jimmy) Delmont, St. Paul, was the behind-the-scenes figure in promoting the financial backing here for the proposed TV station.

Pool Money

The local investors were unaware of the backgrounds of the promoters before they pooled money and turned it over to Delmont and Charles Niles Jr., Minneapolis, for a purported engineering survey.

Several months ago the consumer and trade practice division of the Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture was contacted by one local investor who reported he never got his money back.

Samuel J. Halloin, Green Bay, a fraud investigator for the state agency, talked with individuals who had invested in the TV project.

Halloin confirmed that all but $2,500 of the money has apparently been recovered. It was estimated that between $10,000 to $15,000 had been involved in the initial payment to promoters. There also were tentative arrangements to raise considerably more.

The attorney general's office also participated in the investigation, and conferences were reportedly held with Nick Schaeffer, Outagamie County district attorney.

"The Minneapolis-St. Paul men engaged in a questionable operation in the Appleton area," Halloin said today. It could be considered a grey area as far as the legal aspects are concerned."

He said a complete report and complaint has been filed by his department with the Federal Trade Commission and the Federal Communications Commission.

Through the efforts of the consumer and trade practices division the attorney for Delmont and Niles was contacted and an agreement was reached that legal action would be waived if a funding arrangement was worked out.

Evidence was turned over to Schaeffer who now has a file on the case.

Three Killed In Plant Explosion

ESSEX, Conn. (AP) — An explosion rocked the Valley Metallurgical Processing Co. Friday, and state police reported three persons killed.

The blast, heard as much as five miles away, knocked out windows of several stores near the plant, which manufactures incendiary materials.

The explosion occurred at about 8 a.m.

The plant was the scene of a $125,000 fire April 2 when barrels of powdered magnesium caught fire and exploded. No one was hurt in that accident.

The company produces fuels and metal powders for the aerospace and defense industries.

15 Testify In Hearing For Kramer

WAUKESHA (AP) — A prosecution witness says she heard screams about the time two Waukesha County women were believed slain April 15, but that her husband dissuaded her from calling police.

Mrs. Harold Lardinois, manager of a Brookfield motel, testified Friday at a preliminary hearing which was continued to June 9. The hearing involves murder charges against Robert D. Kramer, 27, of Milwaukee and formerly of Wisconsin Rapids.

Mrs. Lardinois, 45, said she was wakened early April 15 by the screams of women. Her motel is about two blocks from the cocktail lounge where the two slaying victims were last seen alive.

She said she heard a woman plead: "Bobby, don't, Bobby, don't, Bobby, Bobby, Bobby, Bobby."

Mrs. Lardinois said she woke her husband and asked if he thought she should call police, but that he advised her not to.

Waukesha County authorities called 15 persons to testify at the hearing, and said seven more are to testify when the hearing resumes next week.

Two Mishaps Injure Five In Outagamie

Four From New London Hurt in Head-On Crash

Four members of a New London family and a Green Bay truck driver were injured in separate Outagamie County accidents Friday.

Injured when the car they were in rammed head-on into a parked farm tractor on Navarino Road in the Town of Maine were David LeNoble, 27, 688 W. Cook St., New London, driver of the car, with face and head cuts; his wife, Carol, 26, with face, head, and neck injuries; and their children, David, 8, and Laurie, 6, with bumps and bruises.

The injured were taken by Larry's Ambulance to New London Community Hospital. County police said the LeNoble car was northbound on Navarino Road about 10 p.m. when it struck the parked tractor owned by LaVern Keenan, route 1, Black Creek. Damage totaled about $1,550, police said.

William J. Smith, 58, Green Bay, suffered leg injuries about 1 p.m. Friday when the truck he was driving, and a car driven by Barbara A. Ott, route 1, Brillion, collided at State 55 and County Trunk S in the Town of Freedom.

County police said Smith, who was driving a truck owned by Northland Battery Co. of Green Bay, was eastbound on S, having just pulled away from a stop sign, and the Ott car was traveling north on 55. Damage was estimated at $2,400.

Obscenity Bill Unconstitutional, LaFollette Rules

MADISON (AP)— A bill prohibiting the distribution or sale of obscene materials to persons under 21 was ruled unconstitutional Friday by Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette.

The proposal would establish an investigative committee to study possible violations and set a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

La Follette said the bill would prevent people "from reading many universally acclaimed works of literature." He added that the 21 age limit alone may make the measure unconstitutional.

Leaping to Conclusions

Expense Accounts Lure People Into Bad Habits

By HAL BOYLE

NEY YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Expense account living has tempted more Americans into bad habits than the devil.

The most overpraised food item in Manhattan is the bagel.

Those who grow misty-eyed while talking about how good it is are generally speaking from memory. They probably haven't eaten one in a year.

One of the curses of modern prosperity is that a rich man now has a hard time finding anyone to break in his new shoes for him. In the old days a person of wealth usually had a poor relative wear his new shoes until the stiffness had been taken out of them. And when the poor relative returned the shoes, they were expected to be well-polished.

A woman with big ears usually has big hands, too. Check your wife's and see if this is true in your home.

Teen-agers are running out of new slang and turning to the old. For example, they now often use the term "boob" when they want to insult each other. That word, usually applied to a country yokel, was hot stuff in 1900.

We lose our values earlier in life now. A child begins to lose his when he no longer gets a thrill out of putting a penny in a machine and getting back a ball of gum.

Fond of Cats

Women who are overfond of cats usually have been disappointed in love earlier in life, or are so independent by nature that men shy away from them. That is what they admire in a cat — its seeming aloofness.

No matter how ill-gotten a man's gains may be, few who cluck their tongues about his character would refuse the chance to inherit his money.

The most overrated film currently being shown is "Blow-Up." It builds you up to a climax, then lets you down in Dullsville. But the intellectuals go for it, because they can't understand the symbolism. That is the biggest trouble with modern "intellectuals": They mistake artistic confusion for artistic genius.

If you think women act crazy at a department store bargain sale, go watch the New York Stock Exchange in action some time. Men are just as bad at their kind of bargain sales.

Invitation to Debt

The guy who makes $15,000 a year today is usually in a more desperate financial strait than the one who makes only $6,000, because he is more likely to be living above his head.

Science predicts that eventually man will become bald and hairless. It is even more likely that pedestrians in the future will have eyes on the sides of their heads. Either that or, unable to see cars coming from all directions, they will become extinct.

So many nations dislike Uncle Sam because of his money that he feels like an orphan. But how many would rush to adopt him if he ever went broke?

Wright, director of planning at Racine, vice president in charge of programs; Prof. Ruth Baumann, University of Wisconsin, vice president of membership; John C. Want ad corrections or cancellations accepted to 8:30 a.m. for the same day publication. For Sundays—Before 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

IMPORTANT

Composition costs will be charged, if an ordered ad is cancelled before publication.

After an ad is ordered, it cannot be changed before one publication.

When cancelling an ad, demand a "kill number." No claim is recognized on ads cancelled without it. The number of days ad is published determines the rate of such ads.

ADJUSTMENTS

The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for verbal statements in conflict with its established rules, policies or rates.

All claims for adjustments or refunds must be made within 7 days after expiration of ad.

Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which make the advertisement less valuable, should be corrected the first day, when one extra corrected insertion will be made without charge. The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for error after the first insertion.

NOTICE

The Post-Crescent is exercising all precautions to avoid publishing any fraudulent or misleading advertising. However, if any ad appearing in the classified columns of the Post-Crescent can be proven fraudulent or misleading, we would appreciate your informing us immediately.

23 HEAD OF REGISTERED JERSEY CATTLE — 13 cows — 5 bred heifers and 5 open heifers. Mr. Gillingham has been raising registered Jersey cattle since 1922. He has been very selective in his breeding of this herd and kept official production records for over 20 years. His last classification on this herd averaged 85.3. His records show a butterfat production average of 503 lbs. for the entire herd for last year. Mr. Gillingham has been using Badger breeding for many years and these cattle are entirely Badger bred. Mr. Gillingham has served on the Badger Breeders sire selective committee for many years. All of these cattle are calfhood vaccinates. Your Problems

Wife Answers 'Other Woman'; Says Husband Irresponsible

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As I sit here waiting for my adulterous husband to come home (usually between 3 a.m. and 6 a.m.) I feel compelled to write an answer to the Bronxville tramp who is mad because people don't look more kindly on "the other woman."

Landers

The Bronxville tramp said every married man who winds up in the arms of another woman is there because the other woman can give him something his wife cannot give him — namely a keen appreciation for life and the good things it has to offer. The dumbbell doesn't realize her chief attraction is sex, with no responsibilities. You can be sure if she makes any demands on that married man he'll drop her like a hot potato.

I am sick of asking myself, "Where did I fail?" I can truthfully say I did my damnedest, but no woman can make a marriage work by herself. It was my husband who failed. And he failed because he was too immature and too weak to accept the responsibilities of a husband and father.

I know you will not print my letter because you are pro-male, and furthermore it has a cuss word in it, so that can be your excuse. — Getting Late In Dallas

Dear Dallas: Here's your letter and a good one it is — cuss word and all. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The biggest mistake of my life was agreeing to go steady with Jake. Now I am fed up with him and his possessive ways but I just can't get him to leave me alone.

I told Jake two weeks ago that I wanted to call it quits. He bawled his head off and I didn't have the heart to go through with it. Saturday I told him again that I just had to be free to date others and that he should stop calling me. He said if I quit going with him he would become mentally disturbed and flunk out of school and become a bum.

I don't want to be responsible for the ruination of a person's life but I really am bugged by this guy's pestiness and I need to know what to do. — Too Lovable

Dear Love: Bid him farewell and make it a positive statement — not the first sentence of a debate. Too many girls are flattered by a boy's persistence, so they encourage him to keep hanging around by being less than emphatic. Could you be one of those?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My parents are driving me crazy. I am not a teen-ager. I'm a married woman with kids of my own.

Dad has been seeing some gold digger for five years. Every day Mother screams at him about cancelled checks made out to cash. She accuses him of spending the money on a floozy and he denies it. (I am sure she is right.) Dad is 62 years old, in poor health and nothing to look at. The only thing he could possibly do for a woman would be to give her money.

In all fairness I must say Dad pays the bills and doesn't embarrass the family by being seen in public with anyone. He has warned Mother to stop nagging him and reading to him from the scriptures or he will leave.

I think she should accept the situation and settle for what she has. What do you say? — Fed

Dear Fed: Since neither your mother nor dad wrote to me I don't feel it is my place to say anything. Urge your mother to talk to a counselor and to take his advice.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Dont's," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Save What You Can From Fire

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

It's dangerous to lead away from a king, but it's even more dangerous to let declarer discard his losers. You must brave the lesser danger to avoid the greater.

INSERT 1 COL MAT

West wasn't proud of his opening lead of the ace of diamonds, but he could think of nothing better. In this case a tricky opening lead of a low diamond might have worked beautifully, since South probably would have tried a finesse with dummy's jack, but tricky opening leads usually land you in the ash can.

Once he had led the ace of diamonds West was in trouble for his next lead. If West led another diamond, declarer would surely win a trick with dummy's king. If West led a heart or a spade, declarer would surely get to dummy in time to cash the king of diamonds.

Reads Bidding

The important words in that last sentence are "in time." South's bidding promises two five-card suits. This leaves him room for only three cards in clubs and diamonds.

If South started with two diamonds and one club, nothing much can be done. If South started with two clubs and one diamond, one club will go on the king of diamonds unless the defenders take their club tricks at once.

Gritting his teeth, West led a low club. There was no use worrying about finding the ace of clubs in the South hand because in that case the defenders were never going to get a club trick anyway.

Actually, East took the ace of clubs and returned a club to the king. The defenders then sat back and waited for a trump trick.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one club, and the next player passes. You hold: S K Q 10 9 2 H K 10 9 8 6 D 3 C 10 7. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade. You plan to bid both suits, and you show the higher suit first since both are 5-card suits. If both were 4-card suits, you would bid the cheaper suit (hearts) first.

Entering World of Peril, Opportunity, Grads Told

Knowles Keynoter At WSU-O

OSHKOSH — Gov. Warren P. Knowles flew here from the capitol this morning and told the 464 graduates of Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh (WSU-O) they are entering "a world of peril and opportunity."

The state's chief executive delivered the main address during an open air commencement at the Jackson Street Athletic Field.

Sharing the speakers' platform with Gov. Knowles was Dr. Roger Guiles, WSU-O president.

And special honors were bestowed upon Edward Allen, a prominent marine attorney, who received the Alumni Association Award; Frederick Peterson, Sturgeon Bay shipbuilder and civic leader, the University's Special Service Award; Robert Kolf, WSU-O athletic director, and Nevin James, retired English professor, faculty awards.

Half Century

Describing the past half century as one of the most amazing chapters in the nation's history, Gov. Knowles declared, "Few civilizations have undergone the rapid changes socially, economically and educationally now being experienced by Americans."

He told graduating seniors the changes demanded more of them if they are to keep pace with the technological and social advances.

"And, I am sure that I speak for all your fellow citizens when I say I have no doubt how you will acqut yourselves in both peril and prosperity," Knowles continued.

Knowles cited that:

Working Hours

—Working hours are the shortest, and leisure and its luxurious use are at the highest point ever in the nation.

—The total real national product has nearly doubled every 20 years.

—Less than 7 per cent of the work force is needed to feed the people, and 93 per cent are free to produce other goods and services to raise the standard of living.

—People are wealthier than ever before, average family income estimated at $8,270 a year.

—Americans are also healthier than ever.

Forerunner in Change

—People are more educated with 56 million students, or 28 per cent of the total population, enrolled in schools and colleges — a number greater than the population of France or Italy.

Knowles listed several other educational and economic gains, pointing out that Wisconsin has been a frontrunner in the world of change and progress.

"No other nation can approach in magnitude the industrial power of the United States and its capacity to improve the economic welfare of the people of the world," Knowles said.

"We have witnessed in this nation the social ministry of a machine civilization under a system of private capital and private enterprise which has made increasingly available to the masses the comforts, conveniences and cultural advantages that once were the privilege of the few," the governor added.

He said scientific research has mechanized Wisconsin agriculture, converting the farmer into a manufacturer of food products. Gov. Knowles also touched on other fac. of sweeping changes and g..s in the state today.

"The prospects for scientific and economic advances in the years ahead are very closely related to this commencement exercise and the educational process." Knowles advised graduates.

He said knowledge is the power behind the Wisconsin economy's thrust toward the 70's.

A Reclining Chair was presented to the Rev. Clarence Bigler and his family as a going away present from the congregation of the First Methodist Church in Marion. The Rev. Mr. Bigler has accepted an appointment to the Wesley-Highland parish in Milwaukee. They will leave here June 8. Sunday events will include the traditional honors convocation when 578 students will be cited for scholastic achievement. Also planned are the chancellor's concert and reception for parents of graduates Sunday night.

U Thant, United Nations secretary general who was to have received an honorary degree, sent word Thursday that the Middle East crisis would prevent him from making the trip. He said he would be pleased to come at a later date.

Main Testimony Endorses New Apostle Islands Park

60 in Favor of Lakeshore Area At First Session

ASHLAND — Overwhelmingly strong support for the proposed Apostle Islands National Lakeshore was expressed in formal testimony here Thursday. Only a half-dozen of nearly 60 speakers voiced opposition to establishment of the 57,000 acre national park service project.

Several supporters tempered their enthusiasm. Special concern was registered for hunting, fishing and wild rice rights of Indians residing on reservation lands which would be involved. Others sought assurance that owners of private property would get a square deal.

Considering the overall attitude, the testimony must have sounded highly encouraging to Sen. Gaylord Nelson D-Wis., sponsor of the bill to creat the park. He made the opening statement Thursday morning. "This is the biggest recreational project ever proposed for Wisconsin." Witnesses favoring the federal development stressed economic benefits that would accrue. They emphasized a need for more recreational lands, and an urgency for action to preserve a singularly valuable natural asset.

Owners Oppose Bill

Opponents of the bill were property owners or representatives of development groups. Their main arguments were that a public park would mean a loss of tax revenue, and that it would interfere with commercial development.

The hearing in the Northland College theater was conducted by the parks and recreation subcommittee of the Senate Interior Committee. It had been adjourned to Ashland after taking initial testimony in Washington May 9.

Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, presided as chairman. Under Sen. Nelson's bill, the Apostle Islands National Lakeshore would include 30 miles of Lake Superior shoreline, 21 of the 22 Apostle Islands, and a 10,000-acre wild rice marsh east of Ashland.

Doesn't Touch Madeline

Madeline, largest of the Apostles, is not involved in the bill. Private interests are developing Madeline, and are attempting to halt establishment of a park there by the state.

"Our recent figures indicate that about $12,000 would be lost from the tax rolls through acquisition of private property," Sen. Nelson told the hearing.

He cited a University of Wisconsin study indicating that tourist spending would exceed $7 million annually when the lakeshore project is fully developed.

"This plus commercial development in the area around the park, will greatly exceed the immediate loss from taxes," he asserted.

Friday Objectors Say Residents Rights Ignored

Post-Crescent News Service

ASHLAND — More vigorous minority opposition was registered here Friday to creation of the Apostle Islands National Lakeshore.

Six reservation Indians and seven property owners came out strong against Sen. Gaylord Nelson's bill to preserve a 57,000-acre wilderness area.

They protested that their rights were being ignored and said there is no need for a big federal park in this region. Some argued that the wilderness aspects of the area would be ruined; others said a park development would hamper private enterprise.

But the 13 who spoke Friday, and six opponents who had testified Thursday, were far outnumbered. More than 110 persons, including Chippewa Indians, endorsed the park during the two-day hearing.

Nelson's bill now goes back to Washington. The transcript of testimony will be weighed for further action by the parks and reaction subcommittee of the Senate Interior Committee.

Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, chairman, explained why he was forced to rap his gavel sharply several times to quiet applause as expressions of opposition became heated.

"We realize that personal problems are involved, and that emotions will be expressed," Moss commented. "However, we had to control demonstrations in order to discuss the issues in an objective and intelligent manner."

Arraign Man on Morals Charge

Second Count Brought Against Clintonville Resident

A 30-year-old Clintonville man was bound over to Circuit Court for trial Friday afternoon on a charge of feloniously having intercourse with a minor, and was arraigned in Outagamie County Court on a second, identical charge brought following investigation by county authorities.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller bound Morris F. Clement, of 96 Brix St., over to Circuit Court following preliminary hearing in County Court Branch 2 on a charge of having intercourse with a 14-year-old Shiocton girl Oct 29.

The court hearing, behind closed doors, heard testimony only by the girl.

Just before the preliminary hearing, Clement was arraigned on a charge of having intercourse with a 17-year-old girl May 2 in the Town of Maine.

Judge Keller continued that case to June 6, after re-appointing attorney Donald Herrling, who was named to represent Clement on the initial charge after the Clintonville man was found indigent.

Clement is in jail under bonds totaling $5,000.

CCHE Objects to Bringing UWs Under College Regents

Note Informs Legislative Move Would Limit Program, Services

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Transferring the new University of Wisconsin (UW)-Green Bay and the Parkside campus of the university in Kenosha County to the Board of regents of state colleges would substantialy limit the programs and services of the two schools, the legislature was told by the state's authoritative policy-making board in higher education.

The comment came in a fiscal note prepared by the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCHE) on a measure sponsored by Assemblymen Kenneth J. Merkel, R-Waukesha, and W. Curtis McKay, R-Cedarburg, to remove the newly authorized schools from the management of the regents of the UW.

The new campuses are being planned to open in the fall of 1969.

1965 Battle

The issue of control of the new schools was fought out in the 1965 legislature, which chose the UW regents by a decisive margin. The board of regents of state colleges, directing eight other university campuses has shown no disposition to reopen the jurisdictional dispute this year.

The CCHE commentary on the financial implications of the change to the state university system said it is not possible to predict in any precise way, because long-range planning for the development of the new campuses has not yet been completed.

But it said that if "current patterns continue, the campuses would be engaged in less research, graduate and public service activities as apart of the UW system which would reduce operating budgets at the institutions."

From Holiday Sportsmen

Waupaca Court Gets $994 in Forfeited Bonds

WAUPACA — Fifty-six boaters and fishermen, including many from Illinois, forfeited a total of $994 Friday to Municipal Justice George Whalen when they failed to appear in court.

All of the violations were committed over the Memorial Day weekend in the Fremont area. Conservation Department wardens and deputy wardens made the arrests.

Twenty-six of the arrests were for some type of improper boat registration, failure to have the boat registered or not having a registration number painted on the boat. For each of these violations, boaters forfeited bonds of $16.

The largest bonds were for $31 each and came from out-of-state fishermen who were arrested for fishing without a non-resident fishing license.

Only six Wisconsin residents were among those forfeiting bonds, while 47 were from Illinois, mostly the Chicago area.

Other arrests made beside those pertaining to boat registration were failure to have enough life preservers in the boat, operating a boat after sundown without the proper amount of lights and littering. For these arrests bonds were forfeited of either $15 50 or $16 each.

License Restricted for Speedy Bike Operator

WAUPACA — Niel A. Rasmussen, 17, route 1, Scandinavia, pleaded guilty to speeding 43-miles-an-hour in a 25 mph zone with his motor bike when he appeared Friday in Municipal Justice Court.

His driver's license was restricted for 30 days by Justice George Whalen.

Rasmussen also was ordered to pay court costs. He was arrested by Waupaca police on State Street May 26.

The pond and ditch will be used for farm land improvement purposes and for fish and wildlife.

No public hearing was held concerning the project, which will be constructed on land which is owned by Grode, because no objections to the proposal were received by the commission within one month after it was announced.

Body Found In Fox River

Lawrence Mackin Shoots Self on Dock At Alicia Park

A 64-year-old Appleton man whose body police found floating in the Fox River near Alicia Park about 8:30 p.m. Thursday, died of a self - inflicted gunshot wound, according to Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps.

Lawrence Mackin's wife reported him missing to Appleton police about 7:45 p.m. Thursday. Police found Mackin's car in Alicia Park and discovered his body during a search of the area. The body was about 25 feet off shore, in about four feet of water, Kemps said.

Mackin's wife said her husband was not home when she returned from work about 5:30 p.m. She became alarmed when she found a sales slip indicating he had purchased a .38 caliber revolver from an Appleton hardware store Thursday morning.

Mackin, who lived at 624 W. Fourth St., had been in ill health, authorities were told. He was a retired paper mill worker.

Police, who said it appeared the man shot himself once in the head while standing on a dock, were still searching the river area for the gun this morning.

Mackin's body was taken to the Wichmann Funeral Home.

GOP Leaders Stunned By Assembly Choice

Vote to Kill Compromise Bill Which Would Enlarge Building Commission

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — In a surprise vote that stunned the Republican leadership Thursday, the state Assembly voted 48-47, to kill a compromise bill which would enlarge the powerful state building commission to make room in its membership for Sen. Reuben LaFave, R-Oconto.

The vote came on a measure around which the early battles of the 1967 Legislature were fought three months ago. Since then, it had been assumed that agreement and a compromise had been reached between differing forces in the two houses of the lawmaking body.

But evidently the leadership failed to get the message clearly to the troops.

Will Reconsider

A freshman Assemblyman, Stanley York, R-River Falls, asked reconsideration of the vote however, insuring that the measure will be given another examination — presumably after the leadership can lobby its members on the bill. Nine Republicans strayed from the position taken by party leaders on the Senate sponsored measure.

Reconsideration will probably come in about three weeks.

The bill was introduced early in the session as forces contending the fate of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay jockeyed for position in both houses of the Legislature.

LaFave, a backer of development plans advanced for the UW-GB attempted to bump from the prestigious commission veteran Sen. Chester Dempsey, R-Hartland, who had a record of opposition to the new school.

Supporting LaFave was Senate assistant majority leader Robert Warren, R-Green Bay. Supporting Dempsey were Outagamie County representatives, including Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton, and Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek.

The compromise worked out between the warring factions allowed Dempsey to retain his seat, while the bill was prepared to create two new seats on the commission. One was to be filled by the Senate majority — and presumably given to La Fave. The other was to be filled by the Assembly majority — and presumably filled by a foe of the campus plans, picked by Froehlich.

The plan would have maintained the precarious balance on the commission, which has been unable to either move to enlarge the campus plans or cut the budget size for the new school.

But the plan went temporarily by the wayside Thursday with the wayward vote.

Joining the nine Republicans were 39 Democrats, led by minority leader Robert Huber, of West Allis, who said that actions of the building unit have left him ready to repudiate it as a maker of state building program policy.

Only one man carries the power to determine state building policy, he alleged. The situation may be a tribute to the talents of the man but is not good public policy, he claimed.

Huber did not name him, but he evidently spoke of Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, who is highly active in commission work.

He claimed that the bill was drafted because one senator — seemingly LaFave — "has developed an unemployment problem" in Senate actions.

"One Senator had to have his wishes laid temporarily aside," said Huber. "This hardly is the way to legislate — every time someone over there has a bent nose about something."

No one spoke in defense of the measure.

Voting for the proposal were Assemblymen David Martin, R-Neenah, and Robert Kordus, D-Milwaukee, both members of the commission. Opposing it was fellow commission member Harvey Gee, R-Wisconsin Rapids.

Split in U.N. Develops On Middle East Crisis

the lines of the U.S. proposal.

Arab nations consider the U.S. resolution aimed at them. The United States wants Egypt to hold in abeyance any enforcement of its blockade of Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba while the search for a diplomatic settlement of the dispute goes on.

One compromise resolution being considered by the nonpermanent members, it was understood, would urge restraint on both sides but would freeze the situation as it is today—with the Egyptian ban on Israeli shipping in the gulf still in effect.

Diplomatic sources familiar with U.S. thinking said this would not be acceptable to the United States.

The simmering crisis exploded into headlines late last month when Egypt demanded withdrawal of the U.N. Emergency Force from its territory along the Israeli border where it had acted as a buffer for more than 10 years.

Secretary-General U Thant struck back Friday night at critics who complained of his haste in acceding to the Egyptian demand.

Speaking at a dinner of the U.N. Association of Canada in Montreal, Thant declared that U.N. peacekeeping "does not, and cannot, rely on military force or threats, on power politics or on physical domination.

"It is a voluntary operation, and any suggestion that it should, for whatever reasons, cease to be so could be fatal to the whole idea."

Thant said he could not share the view that "the present crisis, desperately serious though it is, is a great defeat for the concept of peacekeeping. On the contrary, we now see all too clearly the true value and importance of the idea.

"But we also have had a grim reminder of the difficulties still to be overcome and of the essential limitations of the United Nations in a world still dominated by rigid concepts of national sovereignty, by power politics, and by acute nationalistic feelings."

refugees from the Israeli-Arab war of 1948.

After Shukairy's appearance, greeted by shouts of "Long live unity!" King Hussein went on Amman radio.

"I have given instructions that no one should be allowed to seize the opportunity to maneuver in order to make individual political gains," Hussein said.

He did not mention any names, but apparently was referring to Shukairy, whom he had barred from Jordan until a reconciliation Tuesday at the same time Hussein signed a mutual defense pact with Nasser, a former foe. There was speculation that anti-Israel feeling among Jordanians made it politically expedient for him to line up with Nasser.

Wilson visited President Johnson Friday and agreed with him on the need for urgent peace efforts in the Middle East.

He called premature at this time newsmen's questions whether force might be used eventually to break Egypt's proclaimed blockade in the Gulf of Aqaba.

Efforts for a settlement will focus first, he said, on discussions at the United Nations and on a U.S.-British proposal for maritime nations to declare that the gulf is an open international waterway.

State Department lawyers maintain international law amply supports the position that the gulf should be open to ships of all nations.

It is international, they said, because four nations border on it—Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Israel.

try pounding in a running battle.

The latest Marine clash erupted in full force Friday about noon. It continued through the night and into today, sometimes with Marines and Communists grappling at bayonet point.

The destroyer Bigelow cruised off the coast with its big guns ready to provide support for the infantrymen.

The last amphibious assault in the northernmost areas was May 18 when Marines were landed for the first time inside the demilitarized zone.

In air action U.S. pilots reported several dogfights with Communist MIG interceptors Friday during raids on rail facilities northeast of Hanoi. No U.S. or enemy planes were immediately listed as downed.

The U.S. Command said several battalions of Marines were hitting Communist positions at Tam Ky under cover of air strikes and artillery. Early reports had 117 North Vietnamese killed, but there was no immediate word on Marine casualties.

The action continues Operation Union 2, which began May 26 with a general assault by 3,000 U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops on the 3rd North Vietnamese Regiment and the 21st Viet Cong Regiment. Both enemy units had been operating in the sector for some time.

Doctor Explains Why Woman Lost Her Baby

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I recently lost a baby because the placenta detached from the baby. The placenta came first and the baby lived only 15 hours. Is there a reason for this or is it something that happens regardless of what you do? — Mrs. S.R.

What happened is doubtless what is called placenta previa.

The placenta is the tissue connection between the uterus and the baby, through which blood is circulated to the developing fetus.

The placenta does not separate from the baby. Rather, in such cases, the placenta is attached lower on the uterine wall. Then, as the fetus develops, the placenta separates from the uterine wall sooner than it should, often about the seventh month.

Dr. Molner

Bleeding late in pregnancy may be a sign of this, so it should be reported to your doctor instantly.

Both because of interruption of circulation and prematurity, the baby frequently dies. The danger to the mother is in loss of blood.

This condition seems to occur more often in women who have had several pregnancies in rapid succession. Some disorder of the lining of the uterus may be involved.

It is, however, faulty placement of the placenta that is to blame and there is no way of preventing it, nor is there any reason to believe that it results from anything you did or didn't do. It is just one of those unfortunate things.

Dear Dr. Molner: To relieve a body itch, a friend said to take a bath with corn starch but no soap. I tried. It works like a charm. Please comment. — A.B.

It's an old — but still useful — method of relieving itching, and many a youngster with a lot of poison ivy or eczema has found relief in the bathtub.

It relieves, it eases. It doesn't cure anything. For relief of temporary itching, it's fine. Don't expect it to be a cure for serious skin ailments though.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 17 and my stomach has been hurting for several weeks. Is it possible to have an ulcer? My mother said I am too young to have an ulcer. I am also very nervous. — L.F.

It is possible to have an ulcer at 17. Ulcers have been found even in babies. But nerves also can make a stomach cramp. Instead of disputing over whether it is possible to have an ulcer, have a doctor examine you and find out. An X-ray of the stomach is essential to determine the presence of an ulcer.

Dear Dr. Molner: A year and a half ago I had quite a bit of rectal bleeding. A specialist made tests and said I had internal as well as external hemorrhoids as well as diverticulosis. I was told to avoid seedy foods, nuts, popcorn, etc.

Since then I have had more bleeding, mostly when I was taking some weight control pills prescribed by a doctor. Would the pills have anything to do with the bleeding? Should I return to the specialist? — Mrs. J.A.

I doubt that the weight control pills had much if any effect. You might, however, discontinue them and see whether the bleeding subsides.

You were told to avoid the seedy foods and so on to reduce irritation of the surfaces which have been bleeding. This does not necessarily mean that they will heal completely.

Yes, by all means return to the specialist to see whether you are making acceptable progress, or whether further measures should be taken.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Congress Is Hostile to Pentagon Plan

Kennedy, D-N.Y., has asked the Armed Services Committee to consider carefully whether deactivation of New York's 27th Armored Divison would serve a useful purpose. He cited the claim of Brig. Gen. Collin P. Williams, its commander, that the outfit is in a high state of training and has a good record in emergencies.

Creating Friction

Another aspect of the plan seen by some as creating friction between partisans of either the Guard or Reserve is the placing of all combat and combat-support elements — such as infantry, armored and artillery — under the Guard. The Reserve will contain only service-type units, such as supply, medical and engineer.

Each state to lose a Guard division under the Pentagon plan will retain at least on brigade at 90 per cent of full combat strength.

Divisions to be abolished are: New York, 27th Armored; California, 49th Infantry and 40th Armored; Georgia, 48th Armored; Texas, 36th Infantry and 49th Armored; Virginia-Maryland, 29th Infantry; Alabama-Mississippi, 31st Infantry; Wisconsin, 32nd Infantry; Illinois, 33rd Infantry; Ohio, 37th Infantry; Louisiana-Arkansas, 39th Infantry; Washington-Oregon, 41st Infantry; Oklahoma, 45th Infantry and Michigan, 46th Infantry.

The Reserve will lose the last of its four infantry brigades — Pennsylvania's 157th, Massachusetts' 187th, Minnesota's 205th and Montana's 191st.

Levy May Get 11-Year Term

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Army Capt. Howard B. Levy, convicted by a court-martial of disloyalty and disobedience charges, faces a possible prison sentence of 11 years.

Levy, 30, Brooklyn-born dermatologist at Ft. Jackson Army Hospital, was convicted Friday of disobeying orders to train Green Beret medics and of promoting disloyalty among troops by making statements opposing U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

The 10-member tribunal of career Army officers, four of them Vietnam veterans, reconvenes today to consider defense arguments for a lighter sentence.

If It's a Boy, the Nugents Probably Will Have a Little Lyndon

AUSTIN (AP) — President Johnson's first grandchild will almost certainly be named Lyndon if it is a boy, says the Austin American.

Luci Johnson Nugent, 8½ months pregnant, and her husband Pat, have chosen a boy's name and are keeping it a secret, the newspaper said Friday.

However, Pat has said he isn't eager for a a baby boy to be junior, so it is almost certain that the boy will be named Lyndon," the paper said.

Pentagon Plan Would Scrap Well-Known Military Units

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Thunderbirds, Red Arrow, Lone Star and Empire.

These are some of the famous U.S. Army divisions that will fade into history if a proposed reorganization of the national guard is accomplished.

The division — including the 36th Infantry of Texas (Lone Star), 45th Infantry of Oklahoma (Thunderbirds), 32nd Infantry from Wisconsin (Red Arrow), and New York's 27th Armor (Empire) — have fought from the Alamo to Inchon and are steeped in traditions of valor.

15 to be Scrapped

Fifteen Army National Guard divisions will be scrapped during the next year, Pentagon officials announced in Washington Friday. The revamping to produce eight combat divisions and 15 brigades is aimed at increasing Guard readiness.

The plan drew reactions from state adjutants general attending a national convention in Indianapolis.

Maj. Gen. Ralph J. Olson of Wisconsin said, "I feel very bad about losing our famous division which had a tremendous history in World Wars I and II."

Affected states have until June 19 to accept or reject the plan.

Wisconsin's Red Arrow Division, named because its men "pierced every line they have met," had more days in combat during World War II than any other division in the South Pacific, Olson said.

A Compromise Solution

At this stage of the confrontation, it seems possible that a compromise under consideration by the United States may succeed in reducing tensions in the Middle East — at least for a while.

President Nasser has established a blockade of shipping into the Gulf of Aqaba on the grounds that it is Egyptian territorial waters. But in 1957 the United States said that it was "prepared to exercise the right of free and innocent passage" through the gulf although it never went so far as to commit itself to gaining such passage for Israeli ships.

In 1936 the Montreu Convention was signed establishing that Turkey had exclusive sovereign rights over the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. But the convention also stated the principle of free international trade through the two straits with Turkey given some restrictive rights only when threatened with war.

A similar compromise might work in the Middle East if Nasser does not really want war at this time. If a treaty can be arranged permitting free shipping but stating that Egypt has full territorial rights in the area, Nasser might have the propaganda victory he seeks in his drive to become the most influential Arab leader. Since Egypt insists that a state of war exists between Israel and Egypt and has for years, it could prevent Israeli ships from going into the Gulf of Aqaba but ships of other nationalities could presumably bring materials Israel needs.

But if such a treaty is agreed upon, what is the future for peaceful relations in the Middle East? There is one massive difference between the situation there and that concerning the Turkish territory. The strength of the Soviet Union and the threat of its forcing its way through the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles does not have a counterpart in the Arab situation. In 1956 the United States did make it clear that it would keep the Gulf of Aqaba open. But in 1967 we are badly involved elsewhere. With a continued buildup of Arab military strength either through the Soviet Union or the United States, there again could come a time when an ambitious Arab leader would confront the Israelis on a get-out-now basis.

But right now a compromise agreement which would permit passage to all ships except Israeli and somehow permit Nasser to save face may be the wisest move. If things simmer down, other Arab leaders are going to use every effort to lower Nasser's prestige and the fighting is still going on in Yemen.

Cooperation on the Farm

If farm organizations can promote June Dairy Month in common on a local and state level, what is to prevent similar promotions among cash crop farmers, poultry farmers, beef farmers and others for the betterment of their mutual interests.

There are numerous occasions throughout the year when farm organizations in a common effort could promote greater understanding, not only among their own followings but also among urban groups.

As farm numbers continue to decline rural-urban understanding will take on increasing significance. Can rural-urban interests, for instance, agree on annexation problems? What of housing developments in essentially rural areas? As the urban complexes continue to expand will county and regional zoning efforts earnestly consider preserving fertile croplands? Who will properly preserve the valuable woodlands?

Those who remain on the farms will be accepting a growing responsibility to see that sound policies are followed in these and many other categories. The situation will call for considerable understanding among farm groups so they may properly represent agriculture's interest in common.

Winnebago County farm organizations are joining for a common effort in promoting rural-urban understanding during June Dairy Month. The effort should not be considered a singular event for within the framework of such a promotion holds the promise of something greater if farm interests will pursue it.

Talks on a national level among farm organizations found each with their restricted viewpoints supposedly backed by sizeable memberships with like views.

However, the Winnebago County example shows something different. There is room for mutual agreement on the local level.

Assuming there is common interest locally that could be developed why not form a federation of farm organizations on a county level. Each would retain its distinct identity while working together with farmers of similar commodity interests in promoting farm products and programs.

What is there to prevent swine breeders from the Farm Bureau, for instance, working with others from the National Farmers Organization. The same holds true with dairying as the Winnebago County example shows.

An Absolute Right to Citizenship

The United States Supreme Court has made a decision which not only overturns an earlier court ruling but seems to firmly forbid Congress from making any laws which deprive an American of his citizenship.

The case involved a naturalized citizen, Polish-born Beys Afroyim, who moved to Israel some twenty-five years after becoming an American citizen. Ten years later he tried to come back to the United States but the State Department ruled that because he had voted in an Israeli election, he had lost his American citizenship. Congress also has made laws that citizenship can be revoked if the individual has taken an oath of allegiance to a foreign power, joined the military service of another country, served as an official of a foreign government, or for treason. Some of the privileges of citizenship, such as the right to vote or hold office, are also curtailed by the states for convicted felons but these were apparently not at stake in the Supreme Court decision.

The decision, another five to four one, written by Justice Hugo Black, said that the Congressional laws on citizenship were violations of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution which states that "all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States." This is contrary to a finding by the Court in 1958, again by a five to four vote, that the same law was constitutional. Apparently naturalization in another country would be grounds for loss of American citizenship since it would be voluntary.

There is little assurance that this decision will last indefinitely. Justice Harlan pointed out in his dissent that the ruling was based only on "the present majority's own distaste for the expatriation power." And certainly it can be argued that taking such action as listed by Congress with full knowledge of the former consequences is in itself a voluntary relinquishment of citizenship.

But for the time being at least a citizen is a citizen and Congress has no right to deny it. "Our holding does no more than to give to this citizen that which is his own, a constitutional right to remain a citizen in a free country unless he voluntarily relinquishes that citizenship," said the majority opinion.

Dr. Reeve New Health Officer

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for May 30, 1867.

The Common Council, at their meeting last week, did an exceedingly sensible thing — and we don't hesitate to say so, particularly as we also don't hesitate to speak our mind freely when we think they go a-miss.

The sensible thing in question was the making of Dr. (James S.) Reeve health officer for the year. He's the right man in the right place!

25 YEARS AGO
Saturday, May 30, 1942.

American actor John Barrymore died at the age of 60. Ill for several years, he collapsed the previous May 19 at a rehearsal in a broadcasting studio.

Newly elected officers of the Girls Athletic Association at Appleton High School were Beverly Schuh, president; Rita Dohr, vice president; Ruth Brecklin, recording secretary, and Elfie Gloudemans, secretary-treasurer.

William Raney Jr. read Logan's Order No. 11 and Lincoln Scheurle recited the Gettysburg Address at Memorial Day ceremonies at Roosevelt Junior High School. A girls' quartet under the direction of Miss Marian Gerlach presented songs; they were Marilyn Jens, Jean Gallaher, Louise Kuklinski and Shirley Piette.

10 YEARS AGO
Saturday, June 1, 1957.

New officers of the Menasha Homemakers Club that year were Mrs. Arthur Kreckler, president; Mrs. William MacFarlane and Mrs. James Toman, vice presidents; Mrs. Bernard Oderman, secretary; Mrs. George Zick, treasurer, and Mrs. E. A. Zeininger, historian.

Carol Coenen and Margie Vande Hey were the highest ranking students in scholarship at St. John High School in Little Chute.

Fox Valley Lutheran High School was to graduate its first class June 7 in the auditorium of St. Paul Lutheran School. Student speakers at the event were to be Carolinn Komp and Jeannine Gosalitz. The Rev. Walter Pankow, New London, was the commencement speaker. The graduating class included 21 senior students.

Hopes Officials Will Make 21-Year-Old Beer Law Stick

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In the People's Forum we read "Young people will get beer if they want it" — and maybe so, but why? Why should our very dear young people, our future leaders of our nation have to get it? They never had it earlier in our time and made out very much better; very well indeed.

Mr. Van Groll states; What are our state officials trying to prove? Anyone and everyone knows the very immediate answer — less bloodshed on our highways, more self-respect for many of our youth, and less heartache for many adults.

Yes, we all like a nice place to meet, and to enjoy an evening's entertainment. But why, just why, must it be a bar especially at the youthful age of eighteen? Other places can be and must be provided. For instance the youth dances now being held at South Greenville Grange; very enjoyable for this age group and younger. Too many young people live, today, too much too soon if they make it at all.

These circumstances relating to beer bars are very unfortunate for all of us today, and I sincerely hope our officials have a chance to correct it.

Israel Was Born in State of War, It's Been Armed Camp Ever Since

By AP Newsfeatures

Israel was born in a state of war and has existed as a virtual armed camp ever since. Surrounded by hostile neighbors, it has known a constant series of "crises" since it was formed by the United Nations partition of Palestine in 1948.

Against the background of centuries-old Arab-Jewish hatred, trouble in the Middle East carries world implications because each side has powerful friends standing in the wings. Britain, France and the United States have been traditional allies of Israel. The Soviet Union has supported the Arab nations, particularly Egypt, since World War II. Confrontation on the borders of Israel can quickly become confrontation of the world's great powers.

At present there is plenty of military "hardware" in the Middle East to support a first class war. Should allies intervene on either side, "escalation" could quickly follow on a scale far greater than Vietnam. The Middle East is, after all, so much easier to get to.

Egypt could field 310,000 men, backed by 1,400 tanks and mobile guns, almost all of them Russian. It could put up nearly 400 fighter planes, at least 130 of them MIG 21's, the latest Russian fighter, with air-to-air missiles. In addition, it has 200 or more light and medium bombers, transports and helicopters.

Syria is also bristling with Russian arms — 600 tanks, over 100 MIGs, 50 bombers, and 115,000 troops.

Other Arab arms would undoubtedly rally to the cause, but against them Israel 71,000 regular troops and 230,000 reservists. The Israelis have some 800 tanks, mostly British Centurions and American Pattons and Shermans. The air force consists of about 350 planes, mostly French and American fighters, plus some transports and helicopters. Israel also has two battalions of Hawk surface-to-air missiles.

On both sides, the navies are small, mostly of the gunboat and destroyer size, but if intervention comes, powerful forces are close at hand. The U.S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean currently includes three carriers — Saratoga, America and Intrepid — and cruisers, destroyers and other ships to the total of 50. The British carrier Victorious and other lighter forces are in the Mediterranean. Russian air and naval strength nearby is not known, but is obviously considerable.

There's plenty of tinder, and no shortage of matches.

Politics Makes Odd Bedfellows; Witness Knowles and Maier

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — That politics produces odd bedfellows is one of the ancient bromides, quite possibly of prehistoric origin. No better example of its validity has turned up lately in Wisconsin public affairs than the cozy conference held in private by Milwaukee Mayor Maier, one of the state's leading Democrats, and Gov. Warren P. Knowles, the state's leading Republican.

Wyngaard

Their tete-a-tete was followed by the surprising announcement, all things considered, that Gov. Knowles might see fit to file on behalf of the frustrated big city leader an application to Washington for help under the so-called "model cities" program that the Milwaukee City Council thus far has thwarted in spite of the mayor's most anxious endeavors.

There is exhibited here the rule that politicians will put aside their differences, and forget their animosities, when it serves their separate purposes to do so.

Maier and Knowles are not exactly strangers to each other, having served in the legislature, in opposition leadership roles, in an earlier period. Heretofore there was little to indicate that their relations were any more than cursorily polite. But here is an opportunity for both of them to help themselves, even at the cost of helping each other, and they apparently are eager to grasp it.

MAIER TROUBLES MOUNT

The naked eye of the outsider can perceive that the Milwaukee city administration of Henry Maier is in trouble, and is worried. It is headed for possibly more serious dangers in the months ahead as a result of the increasingly aggressive attitudes of the Negro minority leadership and the apparently resentful reactions of much of the city's white population.

Maier is under pressure to get rid of his police chief. There is constant pressure for fair housing legislation, which the City Council is plainly and stubbornly disinclined to approve. The demonstrations during the hot weather period a year ago, in the city and in the suburbs, were troublesome enough. Nobody can promise that they won't be repeated this year, as Maier pretty plainly indicated when he talked with the governor about having the National Guard again put on alert if that appears to be necessary to maintain public order in the metropolis.

The mayor's position is in many respects a political cul de sac. He cannot move forward, and he cannot retreat. In such a situation the idea of federal "model cities" assistance had a comforting long-range ring to it. It might be the kind of palliative the mayor needs during the next couple of years. But he was getting adamant resistance from his own elected colleagues on the City Council, when it occurred to him that the state executive in Madison might be an ally.

FITS KNOWLES GOAL

From the viewpoint of a governor who likes the posture of moderation, who has preached about putting his party in the "mainstream," the idea was evidently appealing.

What the Republican Party of Wisconsin needs — as well as the party in the country — is a stronger following in the growing urban centers. That shrewd mechanic of the state GOP headquarters chairman Ody J. Fish, has been preaching that gospel for three years. Last fall he was able to point to some satisfying gains in such metropolitan neighborhoods as Milwaukee and Madison. If Knowles can bring off the proposed relief mission for the beleagured Democratic mayor in Milwaukee he will have given the most effective demonstration that the new leadership of his party believes what it says when it expresses concern about urban living problems.

If he can bring off such a request to Washington for special funds, his will be the achievement, while the responsibility for executing the program will remain with the city administration.

Thanks Post-Crescent For Story on Mutuals

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Our thanks to the Post-Crescent reporter who wrote the excellent news article recently on Town Mutual Insurance Companies and their legislative fight for survival. I would like to add a few words of local interest if I may.

The term "Town Mutuals" comes from "Township Mutuals" as these companies were known back in the 1800's when they insured property owners in only one township. Then, they insured only farmers and only against the perils of wind and hail for them and in recent years casualty companies insured their liability exposure. Today there is a trend toward combining all of these policies into one.

The Town Mutuals are now able to insure all kinds of property against all perils except liability which they are prohibited from writing by the special section of the statutes under which they operate. Their current effort to change this law is vital to their future as acceptable insurance organizations. As your article pointed out, they won preliminary Assembly approval of a bill affecting this change during a session on May 23rd.

I would like readers to know, however, that the struggle for passage of this bill has gone on for over four years now. During this time it has been subjected to an endless string of crippling amendments, hearings, delays in committees, postponements and other parliamentary trickery. In its third year, 1965, it actually passed the Assembly only to die in committee in the Senate without a chance for a vote in that house.

But I want also to point out that while Town Mutuals serve mainly in rural areas, this bill is not so much a test of rural versus urban legislative power as it is big business versus small business in the legislature. Every citizen should be aware of the pressure brought to bear on legislators to weaken small business and small companies thus wiping out competition. More than a few legislators vote as if they feel small business no longer has a place in the American way of life.

Sitting in on the May 23 session I was heartened by the courage of several Assemblymen who spoke out in favor of the bill including Outagamie County's 3rd district Assemblyman Ervin Conradt. As long as we have men like this as lawmakers, who will stand up and fight for the rights of the minority, small business and small companies we have little to worry about. Big business needs little help from legislators in my opinion. Too many small businesses have already disappeared from the scene because of governmental actions (or lack of same) as in the case of the Town Mutual bill.

The outcome of this bill should be watched as an indicator of big business' power to throttle competition via legislative processes. Post-Crescent readers may want to know how their own legislators react in cases like this. We will have the voting record on the Town Mutual bill in our office.

Original Work Feature of Spring Event

St. Norbert Chorus To Give Premiere of 'There Is No God'

The St. Norbert College Chorus Sunday will highlight its annual spring concert with the premiere performance of Joseph M. Cohen's recent composition, "There Is No God."

The chorus, under the direction of Dudley Birder, will perform at 8:15 p.m. in the Hall of Fine Arts on the St. Norbert campus. The concert is free.

Describing his composition, Dr. Cohen, assistant professor of music at St. Norbert, explained, "It started with the initial desire of writing something for chorus, and that obviously necessitated a text. The challenge was to find a poem that would lend itself to a musical setting. In going through a college textbook on 19th century European poets and reading the index of first lines I saw the words 'There is no God, the wicked saith' by Arthur Clough, and I was struck by the timeliness of the theme. The same debate was going on then, in Victorian times — with the advent of science and democracy, there was this doubt.

United Network Folds Along With Bill Dana's Show

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Las Vegas Show is through and its network apparently is too.

The United Network announced in New York Thursday that the variety show aired from Las Vegas nightly was being dropped. Almost simultaneously, United said network operations were being suspended.

The two-hour program, which starred comedian Bill Dana, folded after 23 sessions.

Las Vegas sources blamed poor timing and lack of advertiser response for its demise. They said national sponsors were hesitant about signing contracts with the new venture.

One source noted that the television season begins in September and ends in the spring. The Las Vegas show started May 1.

United had been billed as the fourth commercial network.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

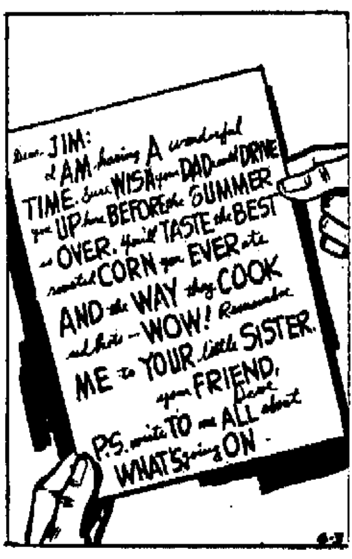
Write a Novel Letter to Your Vacationing Friends

BY CAPPY DICK

When you write vacation letters to your friends this summer, try this idea which is called "Write - Little - Print-Big." You can produce a letter that is unique, one that won't be forgotten easily by the friend who receives it.

As the name suggests, the letter is partly written and partly printed. As shown in the illustration, the first word is written in ordinary handwriting as you would write a regular letter. The second word is printed in big letters. The third word is written, the fourth is printed with big letters, and so on, every other word being printed.

In preparing such a letter you will have to pay attention to be sure you don't fall victim to your regular writing habit and start writing more than one word before you print a word. It



Dear JIM:
I AM having A wonderful TIME. Sure WISH you DAD and DRIVE up UP here BEFORE the SUMMER is OVER. You'd TASTE the BEST roasted CORN you EVER ate AND the WAY they COOK it here - WOW! Remember me ME to YOUR little SISTER.
your FRIEND, Dave
P.S. write TO me ALL about WHAT'S going ON -

is a good idea to go slowly and be sure you follow the pattern of writing the first word, printing the second, and so on.

Goes to Council

Police in Menasha OK New Contract

MENASHA — Unanimous ratification by Menasha Professional Policemen's Association Local 34, voting Friday night on a tentative contract agreement with the city, leaves final settlement of the lengthy dispute up to the common council.

The council meets Monday night in a committee of the whole session and Tuesday in a formal business meeting.

Roy Rollins, president of the local, said today the members met in the city garage to discuss the tentative settlement reached Thursday when a Wisconsin Employment Relations Board examiner met with representatives of both sides.

Rollins said the terms were reached after the examiner conducted a round-table discussion of the issues, then met separately with both parties. The meeting had originally been scheduled in response to the policemen's request for state fact-finding proceedings, a measure that would have brought the dispute before the public in the form of a fact-finder's recommendations. The findings would not have been binding on either party, however.

Overtime Pay

The dispute resulted in a recent refusal by the city to pay overtime wages at time-and-a-half rates until a contract was signed. The policemen reacted by voting to refuse to work overtime except in case of emergency. Police Chief Lester Clark called an emergency in order to bring extra men on duty for the Memorial Day parade.

Clark said this morning he had a "a couple" extra men on duty today for the 1,000 Yard Club Foundation parade, but that it had been unnecessary to call an emergency.

The chances for council ratification of the contract terms appeared strengthened by the fact that Mayor Kenneth Holmes, City Clerk-Comptroller Harry Kind and City Atty. Richard Steffens all attended the Thursday session and approved the tentative arrangements.

Pastor Called to Chapain Duty

NEENAH — The Rev. Thomas M. Warme has been called to active duty as an Army chaplain and is to report to the U. S. Army Chaplains' School, Fort Hamilton, N. Y., June 28.

He will attend a 10-weeks training course in New York and then will be assigned to duty at Fort Sheridan, Ill., where his family will join him. Rev. and Mrs. Warme have two children, Daniel and David.

The congregation is a member of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, and its council will meet with the synod president for the purpose of securing another pastor. The parish has a baptized membership of 700 and 400 confirmed members.

Rev. Thomas Warme

Pastor Warme came to Neenah in December, 1961, and replaced its organizer and first pastor, Rev. Charles Luhn. He is a graduate of Oxford College and Northwestern Theological Seminary, Minneapolis, Minn.

He was loaned by the Synod of the Northwest to the Michigan Synod to organize a mission church in the urban area outside Detroit. Within a year, the parish had grown to 115 members but Pastor Warme declined a call to that church because he desired to stay with the Northwest Synod.

He served as an officer of the Twin City Clergymen's Association while in Neenah.

Car, Cycle Collide

NEENAH — A motorbike driver, Gaylord J. MacDonald, 19, 788 Maple St., suffered side, hip, and knee abrasions in a collision in Neenah Friday.

His vehicle collided with a car driven by Michael J. Lintner, 25, 425 E. Cecil St, about 6:45 p.m. in front of 104 E. Cecil St., police said.

Sgt. Richey, a 20-year veteran with the force, was named detective sergeant. He will handle investigations and serve as relief for the two captains on the department.

He started on the police department March 1, 1947, and was promoted to sergeant in 1960.

Police Chief Lawrence Malouf also announced the promotions of two other police officers.

Officer Robert Seiler, who had been serving as relief sergeant, was promoted to sergeant, effective yesterday. He was appointed to the department in 1956 and became relief sergeant last January.

Driver Faces Hit-Run Charge in County Court

OSHKOSH — Jeffrey R. Sales, 21, Shorewood Drive, Oshkosh, Friday faced a charge of hit and run driving in Winnebago County Court, branch 3.

Sales was charged with leaving the scene of an accident after the car he was driving struck and injured Jerome L. Kennedy and Gregory W. Stoddart early Monday morning as they walked along State Highway 45 just north of Oshkosh.

Kennedy was released from Mercy Hospital Tuesday. Stoddart remains in the hospital but is reported in "good condition."

Judge James V. Sitter also sentenced Sales on two charges he had pleaded guilty to on March 9.

Sitter fined Sales $50 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct and $116 and costs or 90 days in the county jail on a charge of speeding. These two offenses occurred in the City of Oshkosh.

Sales was released without bond on the hit and run charge and proceedings were adjourned to June 9.

County Building Listed At $1 Million for May

OSHKOSH — Carl Mailahn, Winnebago County zoning officer, reported Friday he had issued 97 building permits in May and estimated total cost of construction at $1,048,245.

Mailahn counted 26 permits for single family homes, seven for commercial buildings, 17 for farm buildings and 19 permits for remodeling existing houses. These four categories account for 90 per cent of the estimated cost.

6th District Dem Head Urges 10 Point Program

SHEBOYGAN — Jerry Stillwell; Sheboygan, Sixth District Democratic chairman, Thursday night urged greater communication and greater participation in Sixth District activities by various Democratic party units within the district and by Democrats at large.

Stillwell outlined a 10-point program for the Sixth District Executive Board aimed toward building a unified organization to mount an effective campaign in 1968 to regain the Sixth District Congressional seat.

A resolution recommending support of Marilyn Taylor, Outagamie County, and Mary Lou Berg, Washington County, in their bids for state-wide Democratic party offices was passed by the executive committee.

Neenah Building Holds '66 Pace

NEENAH — Fourteen new homes, valued at $179,000, were started during May bringing the year's total to 51, just four behind the record-breaking pace of a year ago.

The month's total construction amounted to $2,179,362, with a major portion going toward the expansion program at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital. The start of the huge addition and alterations project will cost in excess of $1,879,000. The permit was issued May 9.

The total building activity this year amounts to $3,161,896.

Along with the permits for 14 new homes, Building Inspector Earl Page issued permits for 12 garages, 15 fences, two swimming pools, one utility building, one garden house, 21 residential remodelings and six non-residenial remodelings.

Graduation Lists Omitted 3 Students

Names of area graduates from two Wisconsin schools were omitted in lists supplied The Post-Crescent recently.

Darrell Luebke, Laus Court, Neenah, received a bachelor of arts degree at graduation ceremonies this morning at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh.

James Kaplan, 1751 N. Division St., Appleton, will receive a bachelor of science degree and his sister Ann a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Wisconsin-Madison at ceremonies Monday.

Police Curious About Pistol Waving Incident

NEENAH - MENASHA — Three men involved in a pistol-waving incident while the cars they were driving were halted by a railroad train are due for questioning by police.

The incident reportedly took place on Plank Road at the Soo Line grade crossing about 11:30 p.m. Friday.

Officers were told the driver of the second car in line apparently was racing his motor and annoying the driver of the front car, who left his auto to walk to the second car. The driver of the second car got out and went to the third car and borrowed an unloaded .22 caliber pistol, officers said.

The first driver returned to his car at sight of the weapon, officers said. He was believed to have been the caller who reported the incident to Menasha police a short time later. The drivers of the second and third cars were later apprehended by Neenah police.

All three were due to be asked to explain the incident today. Police said they believe the three men know each other.

Results Due in Month

Menasha Studies Traffic 'Feeders'

MENASHA — Results of a State Highway Commission traffic survey on three city thoroughfares are expected in about a month by Public Works Director Joseph Kelsenberg, who requested the surveys.

Kelsenberg said the aim of the studies is to provide data upon which the city and state can determine whether the three routes could be designated "feeders".

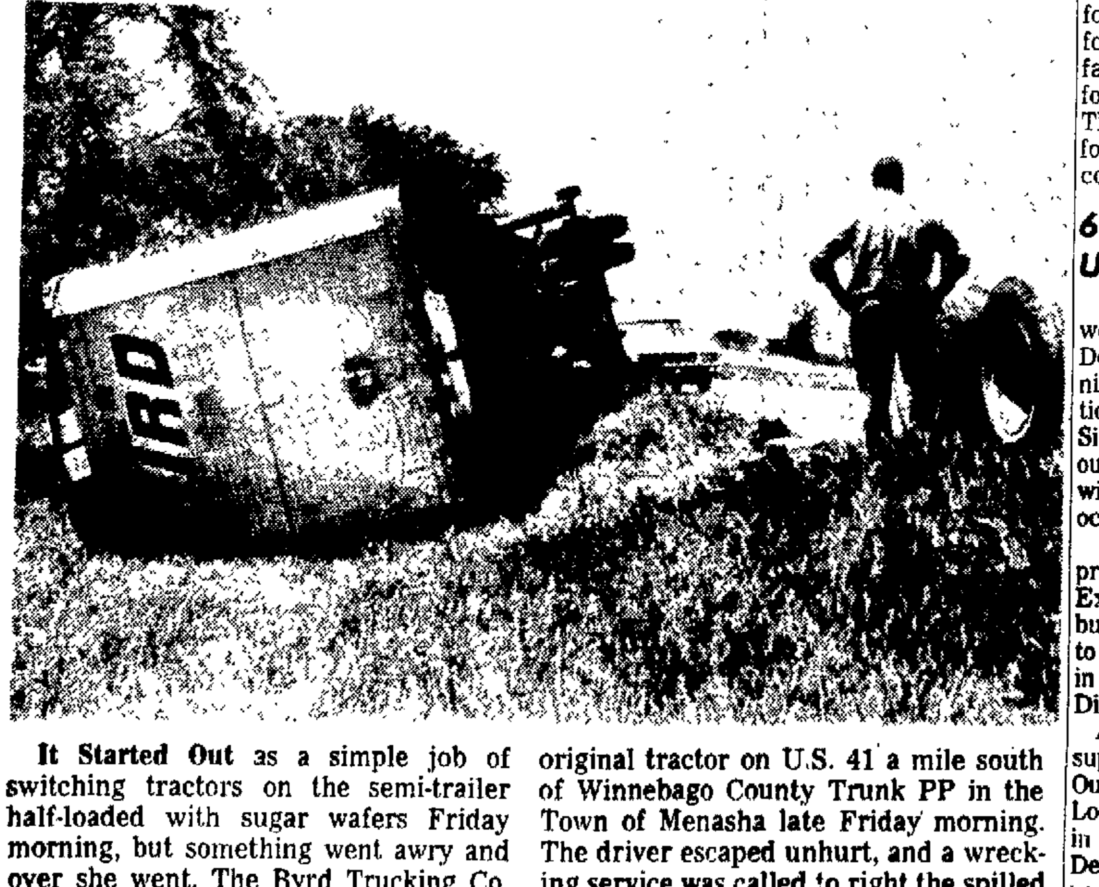
If they were given th dsignation, it would mean relieving more heavily traveled routes of traffic, with the state absorbing part of the cost of maintaining the feeder streets, Kelsenberg said. Such a move has been discussed in the past among city officials.

The routes, which were studied this week by traffic counting devices, include:

Broad Street east from Tayco to DePere Street, and DePere Street north to Appleton Road.

Broad Street east from Tayco to Manitowoc Street, and north of Manitowoc to Third Street and Plank Road.

Tayco Street from Main Street north to Third Street and east on Third to Racine Street.



It Started Out as a simple job of switching tractors on the semi-trailer half-loaded with sugar wafers Friday morning, but something went awry and over she went. The Byrd Trucking Co. rig developed mechanical trouble in the original tractor on U.S. 41 a mile south of Winnebago County Trunk PP in the Town of Menasha late Friday morning. The driver escaped unhurt, and a wrecking service was called to right the spilled trailer. (Post-Crescent Photo)

U Thant, United Nations secretary general who was to have received an honorary degree, sent word Thursday that the Middle East crisis would prevent him from making the trip. He said he would be pleased to come at a later date.

University officials promptly made plans to confer the honorary doctor of laws degree on the UN official whenever he visits Madison.

CCHE Objects to Bringing UWs Under College Regents

Note Informs Legislative Move Would Limit Program, Services

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Transferring the new University of Wisconsin (UW)-Green Bay and the Parkside campus of the university in Kenosha County to the Board of regents of state colleges would substantialy limit the programs and services of the two schools, the legislature was told by the state's authoritative policy-making board in higher education.

The comment came in a fiscal note prepared by the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCHE) on a measure sponsored by Assemblymen Kenneth J. Merkel, R-Waukesha, and W. Curtis McKay, R-Cedarburg, to remove the newly authorized schools from the management of the regents of the UW.

The new campuses are being planned to open in the fall of 1969.

1965 Battle

The issue of control of the new schools was fought out in the 1965 legislature, which chose the UW regents by a decisive margin. The board of regents of state colleges, directing eight other university campuses has shown no disposition to reopen the jurisdictional dispute this year.

The CCHE commentary on the financial implications of the change to the state university system said it is not possible to predict in any precise way, because long-range planning for the development of the new campuses has not yet been completed.

But it said that if "current patterns continue, the campuses would be engaged in less research, graduate and public service activities as apart of the UW system which would reduce operating budgets at the institutions."

Water Commission Will Ask Gallaher to Stay as Adviser

Department Director to Retire; HUD Meeting Causes Optimism

The Appleton Water Commission indicated Friday it intends to retain Dr. William Gallaher, retiring water department director, in an advisory capacity after he retired June 16.

Commissioners were unanimous in adopting a motion to discuss the matter with Dr. Gallaher.

Gallaher

With Appleton preparing to undertake the biggest water expansion in its history, there was an agreement the consultation services of Dr. Gallaher would be "most helpful."

The commission met in an air of optimism after hearing a report from R. D. De Land, commission president, on a meeting earlier in the week at Chicago with officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Bid Duscussed

Discussed was the city's bid for a $1.5 million federal grant to pay part of the estimated $4.5 million Lake Winnebago pipeline and filtration plant addition.

De Land, elaborating on previous reports he gave of the meeting with HUD, said federal officials questioned whether Appleton wouldn't be better off by going directly to Lake Michigan.

"We told them it is our ultimate goal and that several attempts have been made in recent years to get other communities in the region interested on a cooperative venture, but without success," De Land declared.

De Land said it was obvious that Appleton — with a $6 million dollar plant and water utility assets — could not bond for $18 to $20 million for a Lake Michigan project.

"HUD received a few letters from some Appleton people who thought it would be best to get water from the Fox River rather than Lake Winnebago," De Land added.

"It's natural . . . you always will find some people objecting to something," De Land continued." These people are misinformed and that is why they object."

However, HUD officials did tell De Land and Dr. Gallaher during the conference they felt it was the obligation of the state and county to start "cleaning up" the Fox River and other waters being polluted or contaminated. The Fox has problems with both.

Dr. Gallaher's retirement, originally set for June 1, has been set now for mid-month. Mayor George Buckley had sent a letter to the commission urging that Gallaher — superintendent and director here since the 1930s — be retained in an advisory nature.

Arraign Man on Morals Charge

Second Count Brought Against Clintonville Resident

A 30-year-old Clintonville man was bound over to Circuit Court for trial Friday afternoon on a charge of feloniously having intercourse with a minor, and was arraigned in Outagamie County Court on a second, identical charge brought following investigation by county authorities.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller bound Morris F. Clement, of 96 Brix St., over to Circuit Court following preliminary hearing in County Court Branch 2 on a charge of having intercourse with a 14-year-old Shiocton girl Oct. 29.

The court hearing, behind closed doors, heard testimony only by the girl.

Just before the preliminary hearing, Clement was arraigned on a charge of having intercourse with a 17-year-old girl May 2 in the Town of Maine.

Judge Keller continued that case to June 6, after re-appointing attorney Donald Herrling, who was named to represent Clement on the initial charge after the Clintonville man was found indigent.

Clement is in jail under bonds totaling $5,000.

Fire Department Makes Five Runs On Busy Friday

What was reported as an oil tanker fire Friday afternoon turned out to be a pile of burning lumber that was sending billows of black smoke skyward.

Appleton firemen were sent with several units to the 800 block of E. Northland Avenue about 4:10 p.m. Friday after receiving the alarm. Firemen remained at the scene about 25 minutes. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Entering World of Peril, Opportunity, Grads Told

Knowles Keynoter At WSU-O

OSHKOSH — Gov. Warren P. Knowles flew here from the capitol this morning and told the 464 graduates of Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh (WSU-O) they are entering "a world of peril and opportunity."

The state's chief executive delivered the main address during an open air commencement at the Jackson Street Athletic Field.

Sharing the speakers' platform with Gov. Knowles was Dr. Roger Guiles, WSU-O president.

And special honors were bestowed upon Edward Allen, a prominent marine attorney, who received the Alumni Association Award; Frederick Peterson, Sturgeon Bay shipbuilder and civic leader, the University's Special Service Award; Robert Kolf, WSU-O athletic director, and Nevin James, retired English professor, faculty awards.

Half Century

Describing the past half century as one of the most amazing chapters in the nation's history, Gov. Knowles declared, "Few civilizations have undergone the rapid changes socially, economically and educationally now being experienced by Americans."

He told graduating seniors the changes demanded more of them if they are to keep pace with the technological and social advances.

"And, I am sure that I speak for all your fellow citizens when I say I have no doubt how you will acquit yourselves in both peril and prosperity," Knowles continued.

Knowles cited that:

Working Hours

—Working hours are the shortest, and leisure and its luxurious use are at the highest point ever in the nation.

—The total real national product has nearly doubled every 20 years.

—Less than 7 per cent of the work force is needed to feed the people, and 93 per cent are free to produce other goods and services to raise the standard of living.

—People are wealthier than ever before, average family income estimated at $8,270 a year.

—Americans are also healthier than ever.

Forerunner in Change

—People are more educated with 56 million students, or 28 per cent of the total population, enrolled in schools and colleges — a number greater than the population of France or Italy.

Knowles listed several other educational and economic gains, pointing out that Wisconsin has been a frontrunner in the world of change and progress.

"No other nation can approach in magnitude the industrial power of the United States and its capacity to improve the economic welfare of the people of the world," Knowles said.

"We have witnessed in this nation the social ministry of a machine civilization under a system of private capital and private enterprise which has made increasingly available to the masses the comforts, conveniences and cultural advantages that once were the privilege of the few," the governor added.

He said scientific research has mechanized Wisconsin agriculture, converting the farmer into a manufacturer of food products. Gov. Knowles also touched on other facets of sweeping changes and gains in the state today.

"The prospects for scientific and economic advances in the years ahead are very closely related to this commencement exercise and the educational process," Knowles advised graduates.

He said knowledge is the power behind the Wisconsin economy's thrust toward the 70's.

For Church, School of Religion

St. Bernard Parish Names Architect, Designates Site

St. Bernard Catholic Parish has named an architectural firm to design its new church and school of religion and is preparing preliminary plans for the buildings.

The firm which will design and direct construction of the parish project, is Schuett, Erdmann and Gray, Architects III, Milwaukee, chosen after a series of elimination meetings which considered a list of 35 firms.

The building committee, which selected the firm after an inspection trip to buildings they have designed, is Robert Driessen, Dean Smith, Paul Vanderheiden, Lloyd Eisner, John McVey, Milton Fuerst, Edward Bollenbeck, John Lindberg and the Rev. Orville Janssen, parish pastor.

10-Acre Tract

Parish buildings will be located on a 10-acre tract of land bordered on the west by Linndale Avenue and on the south by Cherokee Street.

The school of religion, the first among Catholic parishes in Appleton, will provide religious instruction only under principal Sister M. Una who is completing work at Catholic University of America, Washington D.C. on her masters degree in religious education. Assisting Sister Una will be Sister Michael Ann, a primary grade teacher in Holy Innodents School, Manitowoc, and Sister M. Stephanie, who is completing her college education at Holy Family College, Manitowoc, this year.

The school is expected to have an enrollment of at least 200 public grade-school youngsters next year for religious classes. In addition, the parish hopes to begin an educational program for some of its 264 pre-schoolers, as well as for adults and students attending public high schools, Father Janssen said.

Father Janssen resides at 1600 Orchard Drive, and conducts daily and Sunday services for the parish in Xavier High School facilities.

A residence for the sisters will be purchased or rented within the parish area this summer, Father Janssen explained.

'Heart of Valley' Talks United Fund

Little Chute, Kimberly, Kaukauna Businessmen Meet to Begin Study

KAUKAUNA — George E. Greenwood, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, met Friday with representatives of industry and delegates from businessmen's associations in Kimberly and Little Chute to begin preliminary planning for a United Fund campaign.

John B. Torinus, president of United Community Services, Appleton, provided the group with information on setting up a United Fund. Greenwood was authorized by his board of directors to investigate the possibilities of a single fund drive in the Heart of the Valley to meet the needs of voluntary organizations and agencies.

Greenwood indicated major industries have expressed a willingness to cooperate in the united effort through a payroll deduction plan or in-plant solicitations.

He is planning to work with representatives of Kimberly, Little Chute and Combined Locks to determine community needs, which agencies fulfill these needs and if these agencies are willing to join in a unified effort.

Agencies and volunteers active in fund drives will have to be contacted in an attempt to gain support for the united effort, Greenwood said the effort is still strictly in the exploratory stages and many questions will have to be answered through future meetings before a united or single fund drive could become a reality.

$36,244 Cut Off From Condemnation Award

Geenen Had Appealed First Case; Land For Ramp Now to Cost City $194,476

A 12-member Circuit Court jury, after deliberating only an hour and a half Thursday, slashed $36,244 from a condemnation award for property at Lawrence and Oneida Streets, site of the new Soldiers Square parking ramp.

The condemnation commission last year had awarded $230,720 for land and buildings included in the J. B. MacLaren estate, acquired by the city for the new parking ramp. City Atty. David Geenen appealed the award to Circuit Court last October, along with several other awards made by the commission.

The award for the MacLaren property was made to Catherine M. Davis and Marshall and Ilsley Bank of Milwaukee, co-trustees and co-executors of the estate. Also named in the court case was S. J. Elsner, of Appleton, who leased a service station on the MacLaren property.

A clinic, service station, and garages were on the large parcel of land which the city acquired last July. Verdict to reduce the award to $194,476 was by a 10-vote of jurors who heard nearly two days of testimony.

It was the third consecutive condemnation award reduction Geenen has won in circuit court. Last April, he succeeded in getting a $4,000 reduction in an award made for another parcel of property and buildings at the Soldiers Square Ramp site, and a week earlier a circuit court jury lopped $4,500 from a condemnation commission award for a parcel of land at W. Franklin and N. Division Streets, acquired by the city for street extension purposes.

Speaking of the latest court action, Geenen said he would have considered a market value of anything under $200,000 "a victory for the city."

Somerset Star Runs Fastest Prep Mile in State History

Clocked in 4:19.6; Shiocton's Johnson Sets Hurdles Mark of :15.1

MADISON (AP) — A rarely heralded runner came streaking out of the northwestern Wisconsin hamlet of Somerset Friday to record the fastest prep mile in state history.

Dean Martell, the defending champion, flashed to his second state crown in 4:19.6 to set an all-time mile mark in the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association Class C championships.

Martell's time bettered all standards as well for bigger schools, which continue the two-day track carnival by deciding Classes A and B titles today.

The Somerset ace widened his lead on every lap on the quarter mile track and slashed 11.3 seconds off the Class C record.

Led by Quarter Lap

Martell led runnerup John Chartrand of Unity by a quarter of a lap at the finish. He was clocked nine-tenths of a second under the Class A mile record.

Unity and Kohler shared the team championship with 23 points each. Defending champion Peshtigo followed with 15½ points.

Mark Kartman of Cassville captured the 220 and 440-yard races to become the meet's only double winner. Kartman, winning the 440 for the second straight year, lowered the Class C record for the quarter-mile to :50.1.

The feats by Kartman and Martell were among seven record-shattering performances in the competition for the state's smaller schools, an eighth mark was tied.

Ninth Title

Unity sped to a record 3:30.7 finish to win the mile relay and draw abrest of perennial champion Kohler, which took home its ninth team title.

Kohler set a new mark of 1:33.6 in winning the 880-yard relay earlier in the meet. It was runnerup to Unity in the mile.

The other fresh records included a heave of 54 feet, 11¾ inches by Steve Epley of Prairie du Chien in the shot put; a :15.1 clocking by Gary Johnson of Shiocton in the 120-yard high hurdles, and a 2:00.4 performance in the half-mile by Jim Stoltenberg of Wittenberg.

Stoltenberg dethroned defending champion Craig Swenson of McFarland. who finished third behind Dan Canavera of Niagara.

Beats Defender

Larry Halverson of Edgar cleared 6 feet, 2 inches in the high jump to relegate defending titlist Gary Kamin of Montello to runnerup.

The other returning champion, Rick McNeight of Stratford, failed even to qualify for the final round in the long jump as Ray Tilton of Unity took the event with a leap of 21 feet, 7¾ inches.

Trailing the top three of Unity, Kohler and Peshtigo were Elkhart Lake with 13½ points, Cassville 13, Prairie du Chien 10, North Fond du Lac 8½, and Suring 7.

Other schools which scored:

Edgar, Coleman, Shiocton, Somerset, Boscobel, and Wittenber, 6 each; Montello, Brookwood, Gale-Ettrick, Brodhead, Flambeau, Fall River, Niagara, and McFarland, 4 each.

Also, Trempealeau, Onalaska, Ondossagon, Greenwood, Verona, Colfax, and Wild Rose, 3 each; Casco, Marathon, New Glarus, Mineral Point, Nekoosa, Juneau and Oostburg, 2 each; Holmen, 1½; Cadott, Cambridge, Gillett, Bonduel Wrightstown and Almond, 1 each.

May Leads Foxes to 7-1 Win Over Cards

Raps Homer, 2 Singles For Appleton

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The Appleton Foxes' Carlos May apparently hasn't heard, or doesn't believe, the oft-voiced prediction that .400 hitters are doomed to extinction.

May, a 19-year-old slugger from Birmingham, Ala., rifled three hits in four tries Friday night to raise his Midwest League-leading average to .396 and to pace the Foxes to a 7-1 victory over Cedar Rapids.

May slammed a 2-run homer and two singles to spark a 12-hit barrage that brought the Foxes their second successive win in the Cardinal series and their third straight, over-all.

The Foxes, (who took over the league lead last night) meet the Cardinals at 8 p.m. today in the series finale at Goodland Field. Al Fitzmorris, who has pitched two successive shutouts, will work for the Foxes on "Downtown Appleton Retailers' Association Booster Night." Many prizes will be awarded by the association.

Allow 4 Hits

Tom Rowe and Pedro Rivera collaborated on a 4-hitter against Cedar Rapids last night. Rowe, a recent addition to the Foxes, had allowed only three safeties — but with two on and no one out in the eighth, Manager Alex Cosmidis called in Rivera. Pedro mopped up in a convincing manner to preserve Rowe's triumph.

Left fielder May had lusty hitting support from four teammates, who collected a pair of safeties apiece. They were Jose Ortiz, "Deacon" Jones, Roy Radmaker and Joe Monty.

Ortiz craked a triple and a single, and his speed was instrumental in producing two of the runs.

Jones, last year's Midwest League batting champion, made one of his infrequent full-game appearances of 1967. He showed that he hasn't forgotten how to handle the bat (hitting a double and a single) and came up with some elegant glove work at first base.

The Foxes broke on top in the first inning. Ortiz hit a drive to right center, which would have been a double for most players. But the speedy rookie boldly went for "three" and slid in just ahead of the throw. He scored on Jeff Kolb's ground-out.

Jones singled to left, and May hit a cannon-like drive past pitcher Dale Maier's head for a single, but both runners were stranded.

The Cards tied the score in the third. Bob Cox drew a 1-out walk, and Vince Falcone doubled to left. Duane Freeman grounded out to Monty, and the run scored.

Appleton regained the lead in the same inning. Jones reached

Pinson Lifts Reds To 5-4 Comeback Win Over Braves

Vada's Fourth Hit Decisive in 11th; Cards' Carlton Pitches 3-Hitter

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lightning struck Atlanta's Jay Ritchie the second time around and although he had to wait awhile for the thunderclap, Cincinnati Manager Dave Bristol isn't complaining.

Ritchie fought his way out of a bases-loaded, none out jam, leaving the Reds' winning run stranded on third base in the ninth inning Friday night, but when he climbed out on the limb again in the 11th, Vada Pinson didn't let him off.

Pinson's fourth hit of the night drove in Tommy Helms with the winning run and lifted the first place Reds to a 5-4 comeback victory over the slumping Braves.

In other National League games, St. Louis edged Chicago 2-1, Philadelphia topped Houston 5-3, and Pittsburgh rapped Los Angeles 5-3. New York's game at San Francisco was postponed by rain.

Aaron Homers

The Braves were leading 4-3 on Hank Aaron's two-run homer which erased a 3-2 Cincinnati edge in the ninth. But the Reds struck back quickly. Tony Perez jolted Pat Jarvis with a leadoff double. Deron Johnson's triple tied the score and put the winning run on third with none out.

Tommy Helms was purposely walked and then Ritchie came on to walk Art Shamsky intentionally. That set up a force play at any base, but Ritchie didn't need one. He struck out Leo Cardenas and Don Pavletich and then got Floyd Robinson on a pop fly, stranding the runners.

It remained 4-4 until the 11th when Helms opened with a single and one out later, moved to third on Cardenas' hit. Pavletich walked, loading the bases.

Ritchie fanned pinch hitter Jim Coker for the second out, but Pinson ended his charmed life with a game-ending single.

Joe Torre had three hits for the Braves and drove in Atlanta's first two runs.

Lou Brock socked a two-run homer and Steve Carlton pitched a three-hitter as the Cardinals whipped Chicago.

Brock's 11th homer followed a fifth inning error by Ron Santo.

Hitless Until Sixth

Carlton didn't allow a hit until Don Kessinger got an infield single with two out in the sixth.

The Cubs' only run came in the eighth when Ted Save rapped his first homer of the year.

Dick Farrell, a former Astro, saved Dick Ellsworth's victory over Houston with 3 1-3 innings of relief.

Farrell allowed three hits and one run but shut off a Houston rally in the sixth when he relieved Ellsworth. The Phillies jumped in front with two runs in each of the first two innings against loser Chris Zachary, 0-6.

Ex-Dodger Maury Wills drove in Pittsburgh's tie-breaking run with a seventh inning triple as the Pirates stopped the Dodgers.

Tom Phoebus Hurls 3rd Shutout in Row

Baltimore Wallops Senators, 12-0; Krausse's Hit Beats Chisox in 13th

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore rookie Tom Phoebus insists his name is pronounced Fee-bus. Oriole fans are equally sure it should be Phenom.

The 25-year-old right-hander, who had a brief stint with the Orioles last season, added fuel to the fans' argument Friday night with his third consecutive shutout, a 12-0 blanking of Washington.

That pushed his season record to 4-1 and gave him five shutouts in six major league career victories — he was 2-1 last season.

Detroit clubbed New York 9-5 and took over first place in the American League when Kansas City outlasted Chicago 6-4 in 13 innings. Boston shaded Cleveland 2-1 and California took Minnesota 2-0 in the other games. all at night.

"I'm pitching better now that I'm in the regular rotation," Phoebus said after his shutout of the Senators. "But I had some troubles. I was in the groove, then out of it.

"There's no real explanation for it — I pitch better when I don't have so much rest, when we don't have so many days off."

He struck out five, walked seven, gave up first hits and had base runners in every inning. But he left 10 of them stranded.

Frank Robinson gave him plenty of support, driving in five runs on a homer, his 15th, and a double. Andy Etchebarren also had a homer in the 14-hit Oriole attack.

A three-run double by Willie Horton sparked a decisive, six-run sixth inning in Detroit's victory over New York. Al Kaline singled in two other runs while Horton added another double and a single to the Tigers' 13 hit attack. Joe Sparma won his fifth straight but needed relief help from Dave Wickersham.

Pitcher Lew Krausse cracked a bases loaded single with two out in the 13th inning and propelled the A's to their marathon decision over Chicago, dropping the White Sox a full game off the pace.

A throwing error on Krausse's hit let in a third run. Tommy Agee led off the Chicago 13th with a homer and Billy Pierce was called on to save it when Krausse allowed two more singles.

Jim McGlothlin stopped the Twins on five hits, rapped out two of his own and ran his record to 5-1 in the Angels' victory over Minnesota. McGlothlin started the Angels' winning burst with a single in the fifth. Jose Cardenal also singled, and both rode home on Paul Schaal's double.

Jim Lonborg had a no-hitter going for 7⅓ innings and finished with a three-hitter in leading Boston past Cleveland. His seven-strikeout performance pushed his record to 7-1. Carl Yastrzemski's 11th homer, a two-run shot, was all the offensive support he needed.
